

tion, and you have further amended it so that any subway ordinance passed must receive the approval of the people. I believe the people would favor the I believe they would vote yes on a referendum.

Admits City Has No Measure.

"If you have considered the matter so thoroughly, where is your bill? Have you one?" asked Schnackenberg.

"No, we have none," answered Arvey.

"Why haven't you?" Schnackenberg persisted.

"Because of the change in the city administration," Arvey explained.

"Before you take action against this subway bill, let me say," spoke up Ald. McDonough, chairman of the Chicago council transportation committee, "that we appealed to the business men to say what should be done on subways. They appointed a commission, hired engineers and experts, and then brought back a report recommending subways and offering to pay a reasonable special assessment for their construction."

"This bill, as amended, would permit us to do what the business and influential men desire done. I feel that it is satisfactory, as amended, to the council and the business men of Chicago."

Action Is Deferred.

Chairman Lyon took a hand to prevent the killing of the subway bill in committee. He said that the bill did not without recommendation and that it will not be put on the calendar. It will take 17 votes in the house to get this bill on the calendar, if this motion passes.

"While I am against the five transit bills," said Representative John M. Lee, "why not defer until we have discussed them all?"

That course was adopted, despite considerable opposition.

Senate bill No. 437, was considered next. This would repeal the law which prohibits street railway franchises for more than twenty years and which also provides that franchise agreements are not necessary for tracks in subways.

Would Help Referendum.

Representative Swanson proposed an amendment to one section of the cities and villages act reading: "Provided, however, that no such permission for an indefinite time, or for a time longer than five years, shall become operative until such ordinance of the city council providing therefor has been duly passed and submitted to the electors of such city and approved by a majority voting thereon."

The aldermen and former Attorney General Patrick Lacey, for the companies, objected to the limit of five years.

"As information only," said Mr. Lacey, "let me point out that now the city has power to grant a franchise for 20 years without a referendum. If you reduce it to five, you are curtailing the present power of the city council."

"The mayor and aldermen of Chicago are both committed by campaign pledges to a referendum, and this is making them ineffective," observed Attorney John Maynard Harlan, for the Luman plan.

Stretch It to 20 Years.

Upon the request of the aldermen the five years was stretched to twenty years and the amendment adopted.

Senate bill No. 258, which is the indeterminate permit measure, was the subject under discussion when the committee adjourned for the day.

"This is the bill about which there seems to be the most newspaper comment, and it is chiefly centered around the provision that the franchise may be terminated for 'misuser and non-user,'" explained Mr. Lacey, Senator Daley, in the senate, attached an amendment which placed the duty upon the court to decide what is misuser or nonuser. A practice which is not even offensive today may be grounds for charges of misuser in years to come, and the courts will then decide the question.

"What is misuser now?" asked Representative Schnackenberg.

"Violation of the numerous provisions of the ordinance, and you must set them all out if you are going to define misuser," replied Lacey.

"It is practically impossible now to define all of them," agreed Schnackenberg.

"Perhaps an ordinance granted under this enabling act will continue for 100 years or 200 years, and it is inadvisable to attempt to define everything which would be misuser now," said Lacey. "It cannot be done."

Wants to Protect Posterity.

"Yes, for 100 or 200 years, or eternity," said Schnackenberg. "Perhaps these ordinances will go on in perpetuity, and if we cannot protect posterity, then the bills should not be passed. We should not leave it to the whim of a judge to decide. I have an amendment giving the power to the city council to say what shall be misuser or nonuser. Then, if trouble arises, it will be an easy matter for the court to decide whether the offense of misuser or nonuser has been committed."

The Schnackenberg amendment says that the city, in granting an indeterminate permit, shall have the right conferred by the following language: "Provided, however, that said municipality shall, by the terms of said license, permit, consent, or grant provide what acts, events, or occurrences shall constitute a misuser or nonuser, as said terms are used in this section, and said stipulation shall be thereafter binding upon said municipality and upon the grantee named therein, and its successors and assigns."

Chairman Lyon of the house municipal committee hopes to finish discussion and committee action tomorrow.

Officials of the public library yesterday attended the opening of a new branch at 27th street and Crawford avenue. This is the first of a new series of branches to be opened in the city, as announced by President Colin C. H. Fyfe and others.

Busby Asserts Five Car Bills Were Drafted on City's Model

Leonard A. Busby, president of the Chicago City Railway company, which operates the south side surface lines, added his arguments for the five pending transit bills last night to those of Samuel Insull and other officials of the transportation companies.

Like that of Mr. Insull, the Busby statement contends that the legislation was drafted in good faith with a view of fairness to all and denounces the demands for amendments as insincere attacks by a minority group of obstructionists.

"The filing of these bills," Mr. Busby declares, "was the signal for a flood of deliberate and intentional misrepresentation. Clouds of suspicion and veiled charges were thrown out to discredit the bills and their sponsors. If these methods of attack are successful the people of Chicago rather than the owners of the companies will be the chief sufferers."

Traces Transit Negotiations.

The statement traces in detail the transit negotiations beginning in August, 1925, and ending in February, 1927. The tentative ordinance prepared by the city council, Mr. Busby says, incorporated all essentials written into the five bills and the aldermen and the transit officials were in accord save for the manner of appointing the local commission. The statement continues:

"This ordinance was based on the indeterminate franchise. Before the companies were ever called into conference, the city council local transportation committee adopted the term 'indeterminate' as the basis of negotiations. The records of the committee so show."

New Ordinance Outlined.

"The new ordinance provided for unification of surface and elevated lines with provision for buses. It provided for city owned subways and also for a local traction commission. The companies recommended a commission of five members, of which two should be appointed by the city, two by the companies, and the fifth member agreed upon by the city council. The city's representatives recommended a commission of five members appointed by the city. The new ordinance also provided for enabling legislation. This enabling legislation covered:

1. Elimination of the twenty year grant.
2. Power to the city to grant an indeterminate permit.
3. Authority to lease subways for longer than twenty years and recognition of paying part of cost by special assessment.
4. Authority to consolidate all the

COUNCIL DEMANDS CITY SAFEGUARDS IN TRANSIT BILLS

Calls on Legislature to Amend Measures.

Reacting to public criticism against the Insull transit bills, the city council by a unanimous vote yesterday directed a resolution to Springfield warning the legislature to pay heed to the demand for amendments protecting the city's rights.

The language of yesterday's resolution was unmistakable in its meaning, completely changing the tone of a resolution adopted a week ago, which merely requested the modification and which was interpreted as passive approval of the legislation.

"We protest against the traction bills passed by the Illinois senate which have ignored every safeguard the council has asked," the new resolution declared. "It is our solemn judgment that failure fully and fairly to comply with every demand will place on the legislature and the governor the entire responsibility for the results."

Senate's Action Denounced.

Ald. Leonard J. Grossman [5th] introduced the resolution, prefacing its presentation with a scathing denunciation of the state senate's action. Ald. Nelson [45th], a Thompson leader, objected to its adoption on the ground that it duplicated the previous resolution, but he received no support. He then moved himself that the measure be adopted.

Mayor Thompson made no comment, apparently taking little interest in the discussion.

Commission Plan Explained.

"Finally with reference to home rule we worked out a plan whereby the city would be given virtual control of the commission. The city appoints two members and while the third member is appointed by the county board the city elects the majority of the members of that board. The other two members of the commission are appointed by the governor.

"We believe that a bill of this nature had a chance of meeting approval and that this large measure of home rule was preferable to none. These are the facts with reference to these bills and they are facts of record which cannot be disputed."

"These transit bills in their present form are nothing more or less than legislative strait-jackets," Ald. Grossman asserted. "We are in the fix of the man who ordered a suit of clothes but was denied the right to determine how large and how wide the cloth should be cut. Unless amended in the city's interest, these bills will be a deadly ill fitting garment for Chicago to wear."

Calls Insull a Despot.

"Mr. Insull has used his autocratic and despotic power to back these measures. But there is something stronger enough to stem even his power when he reaches out too far—that is the power of public opinion in Chicago. Thrones of monarchs more secure than his have been destroyed by public opinion."

The resolution, Ald. Grossman said, should serve emphatic notice on Springfield that the council never will pass an ordinance under the senate bills as they stand.

"Traction never will be settled until it is settled right," he stated. "We

UNIONS AND TRANSIT LINES SOON TO OPEN WAGE NEGOTIATIONS

With the expected arrival in Chicago tomorrow of William D. Mahon, international president of the street car men's union, conferences are due to begin between officials of the surface and elevated lines and union representatives which will result either in a walkout of 22,000 employees or a peaceful settlement of differences.

Mr. Mahon is expected to begin a series of conferences with William Quinn, head of the surface lines' union, and with officials of the elevated union. Following this, joint meetings between the union men and company officials are expected to begin early next week.

Both transit unions, which negotiate separately with employers but act together in case of a strike, have demanded raises of 15 cents per hour. The surface men now get 75 cents per hour and the elevated maximum wage is 77 cents.

Tonight the 5,000 elevated trainmen are expected to cast an overwhelming ballot in favor of conferring upon their union officials the right to call a strike if a satisfactory settlement is not reached. The street car men voted almost unanimously in favor of a strike last Thursday.

"We have gone on record as favoring an indeterminate franchise under proper conditions," said the report. "In our opinion the city would be in a far better position to deal with the transportation companies if it had the power to grant either an indeterminate permit or one for a term of years."

A special session of the legislature to consider the bills is urged in a resolution of the Women's City Club with the argument that it is physically impossible to give the measures adequate consideration in the few days of the session remaining.

The club declares that the rights of the city should be carefully protected, agreeing with the City Club that the most dangerous feature in the indeterminate franchise provision.

COOLIDGE SETS UP WHITE HOUSE IN BLACK HILLS

South Dakota Extends a Friendly Welcome.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
State Game Lodge, S. D., June 15.—(Special.)—The President and Mrs. Coolidge entered their summer White House at dusk tonight.

At the rear of the motor stopped in the remote valley of the Black Hills the voices of meadow larks at their evening song and the murmur of a west stream which flows near the door were the first sounds that greeted the newcomers.

To one raised in the Vermont hills this seemed something like homecoming. It was true instinct that led the President here. Green slopes, leading to pine crowned ridges, met his eyes. The wind was cold riding across the black open country over the 32 miles of winding, climbing roads from Rapid City, where the train journey ended. In this sheltered cañon chosen for its retreat it was warmer.

Established in Short Time.

The huge fireplace in the lodge hall made a bright welcome for him as the secret service men led him up the steps. He turned and looked at the time at the hills and the red western sky. Mrs. Coolidge, with her guard and two dogs, started on a happy exploring expedition on the west side of the lodge. The White House servants slipped up in a bus and went in the back way. In an hour everything had been established.

The way to the lodge was picketed at every crossroad by members of the National Guard, and for a mile out of Rapid City, along the Custer highway, the road was lined with state troops.

At Hermosa, a cow town, seventeen miles out, the President found a touch of the old west. Cowmen had ridden in on their ponies from the hills for a hundred miles around. They were lined up along the road 135 strong and shouted and waved their hats as the President passed.

Cowboys Cheer for President.

"Three cheers for Coolidge. Hip, hip, hurrah!" they yelled as long as he was in sight. The town band met him and the street had a huge banner across it reading: "Hail to the Chief." The President rode in an open car through the town, where all could see him, but out in the country changed to a sedan to keep more comfortable. The President saw his first trout fisherman, a man with basket and hip boots, and passed many streams which are regarded with speculative eyes. The water was clear and swift, another likeness to his boyhood hills. There are plenty of streams and great lakes of fishing for his ears.

The presidential party reached Rapid City at the edge of the Black Hills at 5:30 o'clock, mountain time, and at once entered automobiles for the drive to the state game lodge. It was raining gently as the President and Mrs. Coolidge approached the hills, which looked blue black against the green of the foothills and the western sky.

State Extends Warm Welcome.
The state as a whole extended President Coolidge a warm welcome for hundreds of miles as the presidential special wound its way over the prairies, hesitating at the farm center to give the inhabitants a glimpse of the chief executive and his wife.

The official welcome was staged at Pierre, the capital, where the President and Mrs. Coolidge were prevailed upon to change their program slightly, leaving the train and taking their place at the head of a parade which went through cheering crowds in the business section.

Farmers Are Friendly.
Gov. Bulow, Senator Norbeck, Representative Christopherson, committee men, legislators, newspaper editors, farmers, and business men from all central section were on hand to greet the president and escort him from town to town. The train was crowded with delegations from early morning, when Senator Norbeck came on board with a committee at Lake Preston.

From all who approached the train there were nothing but friendly sentiments and those who attempted to slip into politics from such a poor vantage point touched nothing but friendship for the President. The South Dakota farmers, it was explained, feel no relief legislation of some kind is needed, but hold no great resentment against the President for his veto of the McNary-Haugen bill, which few understand.

SHOPPERS' DRESS SHIELD DEBATE AGAIN IS DRAW

A lone man with the courage of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, observers said, yesterday faced a crowd of 200 women, many with daughters of school age, and disagreed with them as to the kind of undergarments girls of today are wearing.

The man was Elmer T. Stevens, manager of the Stevens department store. He was speaking at a public hearing held by the council health committee on a proposed ordinance to compel the use of paper shields for women shoppers to protect dresses they try on.

"Women are wearing less and less clothing all the time," said Mr. Stevens. "Why, half the younger ones wear no underwear at all between the waist and the knee."

The tissue shield, as specified in the ordinance, would reach only from neck to waist. In view of the lack of covering from the waist down, Mr. Stevens argued, it would be useless.

Half a dozen representatives of other loop department stores joined with Mr. Stevens in protesting the ordinance, which, they hold, is not needed and an interference with private business. Mrs. Julia N. Deal of the Illinois Women's Catholic club, Mrs. Margaret Plender of the Illinois Women's Athletic club, and Mrs. Mary Bemis, former county commissioner, spoke in its behalf.

Mr. Stevens charged that the manufacture of the shields had come to him and openly stated that the intent of the ordinance was to force the store owners to buy them.

In order to investigate the charge and obtain other views, the committee voted to continue the hearing until next Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

ROME, June 15.—(Observer.)—Romano tonight carries a protest from Pope Pius against the publication of Gabriele D'Annunzio's works at government expense.

"We cannot help relating here what we have said before," reads the protest, "about the works of D'Annunzio, which the Catholic church has put in the index. A Catholic country cannot fail to recognize in the church the supreme spiritual guide and accept with filial discipline all admonitions, rules, and regulations which the church declares for the good of the soul."

"The present regime has admitted as obvious the elementary principle of moral values based on religion. The regime also maintains the truth against agnosticism in every moral and intellectual field and proclaims itself Catholic. It is inadmissible that the regime should have part in the diffusion and exaltation of works which have been condemned by the Catholic church."

SENATE DEFEATS WET BILL ASKING FOR REFERENDUM

Weber-O'Grady Act Gets 17 Votes; 33 Against.

BY PARKE BROWN.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Springfield, Ill., June 15.—[Special.]—By almost exactly two to one, the senate today rejected the demands for a referendum on the repeal of the state prohibition law and the search and seizure act.

Coming up for final action, the Weber-O'Grady bill, passed in the house on May 18, was defeated in the upper chamber by a vote of 17 to 33. Twenty-six votes are required for passage.

The seventeen consisted of sixteen Chicago senators and one downstate. The 33 negatives came from thirty county senators and three Cook county men.

The senate also discussed the Green resolution, already passed by the house, but adjourned until tomorrow without a vote.

This resolution appeals for a federal constitutional convention to repeal the eighteenth amendment. The debate will be resumed in the morning.

Peoria Man for Referendum.

The one vote for the Weber-O'Grady referendum from outside Chicago came from Senator John Dalley of Peoria. The three Cookites who recorded themselves against it were Senators James J. Barbour, Arthur A. Huebner and Lowell B. Mason.

Senator Adolph Marks led the fight for the bill. Others who spoke for it were Senators John J. Boehm, John T. Denver and Harry W. Starr.

Starr said he came from a family of six ministers.

"The conditions that exist among the young people under prohibition," he said, "are unbelievable. It used to be that the boy who carried a flask was ostracized. It used to be that when you approached a young woman with a suggestion that she take a glass of wine, you did so with caution. Now she'll flunk you the minute she meets you."

"The people are tired of being regulated. I hear there is a man on La Salle street who has a house and lot he has offered to give to anybody who will mind his own business for twenty-four hours. And no dry has applied for consideration."

"Since when has any man had the right to say to his fellow man: 'I am holier than thou?'"

"A minister said to me recently that the liquor issue is dead. I don't want to reflect on the cloth, but a man who says that is either blind or dumb."

Starr spoke of the search and seizure act as the "search and seizure and sale" act, charging that much liquor seized under it is sold later.

"The time has come," he said, "to put an end to search and seizure for commercial purposes."

Starr is of dry.

Senator Denver brought several angry retorts from Senator Andrew S. Cuthbertson of Dunker Hill, who had spoken against the bill. The Chicagoan referred to reports that the downstate had received pay for the speeches before farm bureau meetings.

"Any man who says I receive pay for speeches on this floor," shouted Cuthbertson, "is a contemptible liar."

"You misunderstand me," said Denver, smiling.

"I say it again. It's a dirty lie and I'll meet the man who says it, either here or in the corridor."

"But," said Denver, "they say a harking dog never bites. I'm glad I drew fire."

Denver and Marks urged particularly that the people of Illinois be given an opportunity to vote in a legally provided way on the wet and dry issue.

Marks also read a letter recently sent out by the Anti-Saloon league asking for contributions with which to defeat the Weber-O'Grady bill.

"I'll ask you why it needs money for that purpose," he said. "I have only one conclusion and that is that that use would be for some unlawful purpose. Legislation should be passed on its merits and without the use of money."

"If the word 'liberty' means anything it means the right to eat, drink and wear what you like."

Cuthbertson opposed the bill as a "reputation and nullification" of the federal constitution.

Law Enforcement Paralyzed.

Boehm answered him with a declaration that law enforcement is paralyzed by the burden of prohibition, that as a result, the executive department of government has broken down.

He protested against the suspension of three police captains in Chicago—Stevens, Carroll and Murphy—saying they had been disgraced because they obeyed orders and tried to enforce the law.

Senators Telford and Burgess also spoke against the bill, the former contending that its enactment would tie the hands of sheriffs and state attorneys throughout the state.

"Whenever you run down any crime," said Telford, "you'll find it was committed by a man who drinks alcoholic liquor."

The debate on the Green resolution

DAY IN SPRINGFIELD

SENATE.

Weber-O'Grady bill (search and seizure) failed to pass, 17 to 33.

Gov. Small's gas tax bill was recommended for passage by roads committee.

Administrative code bill amended to separate proposed board of pardons and paroles from department of public welfare.

HOUSE.

The house cleared the decks for the final job by tabling all bills still in committee and not passed second reading. More than 200 measures were thus disposed of.

Bill passed—Weeks bill giving Chicago right to condemn land in excess of immediate need, referendum; Mariner electricians' license bill; McAdams bill, changing hours of school elections; Fekete bill securing certain highway right of way; McClugage home rule bill; Durso home rule bill; Allen bill amending appeal procedure under cities and villages act; Allen bill concerning fees and fines under act regulating concentrated feeding stuffs; Mariner bill fixing removal of 1.43 per cent tax aggregate in cities over 150,000; McCarthy bill changing basis of municipal bond referendum to majority of votes on proposition; Weiss bill concerning legal notices; Weiss bill concerning publication of trust company auditor's report; Hoff bill authorizing sale of land devised to Illinois soldiers' orphans' home; Rowen bill, valuing certain military districts; Beh and game committee bills, changing certain open seasons and providing that fish and game fund shall be used to meet game preserve bonds; Elrod bill requiring driver in automobile accident and officers to notify secretary of state; Sinnott bill making method of filing Appeal and Appellate court same as Supreme court; Kersey bill amending Cook county employees act by increasing amount of credit from 5% to 1 per cent of salary; Ewing bill providing mechanics lien on goods furnished state contractor shall be filed with state officer letting contract; Fekete bill amending park district act; Baird bill raising small park tax levy from 25 to 30 cents; G. J. Johnson bill raising salaries of downstate sanitary district trustees from $100 to $300; McCarthy bill raising salary of secretary of state, state auditor, superintendent of public instruction, and clerk of Supreme court from $7,500 to $10,000 a year; Rennie bill permitting municipality of more than 2,500 to designate through streets; Arnold bill appropriating money to be collected under proposed gas tax, $3,200,000 for distribution to counties, $1,840,000 for refunds, and $50,000 for cost of administration.

acted upon was the adoption of a resolution of a part of the administrative bill separating the proposed board of pardons and paroles from the department of public welfare. It was presented by Senator Richard R. Meents, Gov. Small's spokesman. As this was a demand of Hinton G. Clabaugh, supervisor of pardons and paroles, it is believed a victory for him.

As had been expected, the gasoline tax bill went through the roads committee of the senate without difficulty. This committee, it is conceded, was "loaded" with small downstate bills in order that it would back the governor's road program unhesitatingly.

There was no roll call or discussion, it being agreed that proponents and opponents of the tax would be given a chance to be heard before the committee of the whole Friday morning while the bill is on second reading.

Senate Further Advanced.

As far as the senate is concerned, with its lesser number of bills, its shorter roll call, and its smaller committees, it has kept fairly well up to date and is able to contemplate adjournment complacently.

A glance at the house calendar tells a different story. Leaving out of consideration the many senate bills in committee, among which are the Chicago traction bills, the calendar this afternoon shows nearly 200 senate bills counting the Chicago revenue bills on second reading, 25 estate bills on third reading and more than fifty house bills on third reading.

Even should these bills be passed without debate, which is highly unlikely, the house would require at least fifty hours of calling of the roll to dispose of them.

There has been a misconception as to the right of the legislature to continue beyond June 20.

Under the constitution, the governor must be given ten days in which to consider bills. The constitution also provides that no act of the assembly, unless it contains an emergency clause, shall take effect until the first day of July following its passage.

These two provisions formerly were taken to mean that the general assembly could not continue in session after June 20.

Upheld by Courts.

As it is understood now—and a Supreme court decision supports the position—the legislature may run until midnight of June 30. It would then recess for ten days to give the governor time to consider the bills. It might then reconvene and by recessing from month to month continue as a legal assembly up to the very day of the succeeding session.

Any act passed by the general assembly prior to July 1 goes into effect as soon as the governor signs it or as soon as the ten days' limitation is up. It does not have to wait until the next July 1 to become effective.

It is within the right of the assembly to continue in session and pass more bills after the first of July, but these would not take effect until July 1, of the following year.

ASSEMBLY CAN'T END JOB BEFORE FIRST OF WEEK

House Jammed with Bills;
Senate Up to Date.

BY JOHN HERRICK.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Springfield, Ill., June 15.—[Special.]—The steering committee of the house met today, tussled with the problem of a record jam of pending bills, and made announcement that the house will remain in session until the last bill has received consideration.

It means that, running at top speed, the house faces the choice of holding a Sunday session on the chance of being able to finish Monday night, the 20th, or of adjourning over Sunday and keeping on until Tuesday or Wednesday night.

And these are minimum limits in the opinion of veteran members. Should the orderly procedure strike a snag, it may mean several additional days of work.

GIRL PASTOR, ON TIME FOR SPEECH; USES AIRPLANE

Woodstock, O., June 15.—[Special.]—Just as an Epworth league speaker finished his address on what the league should expect of a pastor, streaming service and promptness, the Rev. Miss Georgiana B. Sucha, Rockport, Mass., landed in the church yard in an airplane one minute before she was to speak. "I just landed over," she told astonished leaders.

The Rev. Miss Sucha had been delayed 12 hours in Toledo and found she could not attend the meeting unless the 300 mile trip was made by airplane. The plane was forced down twice by engine trouble.

ECONOMY POLICY OUSTS 65 FROM SCHOOL OFFICES

During the two weeks since the school board's economy program went into effect sixty-five employees of the business department have been dismissed, President J. Lewis Coath announced yesterday. Six of the architectural staff were slated for dismissal yesterday after John C. Christensen had notified Mr. Coath that their work has been unsatisfactory. After a tour of the school John Howatt, chief engineer, announced that he would suspend one school engineer custodian and would file charges against another.

DEBUTANTE HOSIERY

has 6 advantages

The weavers of Debutante understand women's needs. They present this sheer, clear, full-fashioned 4-thread chiffon hosiery to meet every one of them.

1. for the Tiny Foot

Some women have tiny feet and usually pay extra for the small size. Debutante asks no extra price.

2. for the Junoesque Foot

A small foot would be miscast owned by a tall and queenly type of woman. So there's size 10 1/2 at no extra cost.

3. for Long Legs

It's a sign of aristocracy, 'tis said, but also a nuisance before Debutante offered a 33-inch length—at no extra cost.

4. the Picot Edge

Every Debutante stocking is topped with a green picot edge.

5. Run-stop Stitch

Garter runs—even the most threatening of them, can't pass this special stitch.

6. Wear-proof Heel and Toe

The special heel and toe tipping bids a cheery farewell to darning needles. The extra wear is remarkable.

When foot troubles come beauty goes

Just constant torture of aching feet doesn't simply take the beauty out of a woman's walk. It takes it out of her face... and out of her life.

For you can't be active and fresh if your feet are laden and lagged on. The persistent ache seeps into your system—draining at your energy. You suffer—your health suffers—your looks suffer. Duties go undone. Your children get no cheery companionship. Your husband finds you the victim of "nerves."

Yet it is needless to let aching feet ruin your life. Thousands of men and women have found quick and permanent relief by wearing Ground Gripper Shoes. The three corrective features, found only in these shoes, remove the main causes of most foot troubles and allow Nature to re-establish the normal health and vigor that your feet should have. They are: The Straight Line Inner Edge, the Flexible Arch, the Patented Roller Heel.

Try on a pair today at the Ground Gripper store. The quick relief will delight you.

POLITICIANS EYE PRIMARY BILLS VOTED BY SENATE

2,200 Committeemen for Chicago in Prospect.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Springfield, Ill., June 15.—[Special.]—Politicians are wringing their brows tonight studying the new primary bills to discover what changes are contemplated in the machinery of the "let the people rule" system.

For months reports have been current that the Supreme court might knock down a decision in the Dixon case handing over the present direct primary act. The senate has passed a bunch of primary measures, sent up by Gov. Small designed to put a new law on the books before the old one is off and tomorrow they are the subject of a hearing in the house committee on elections.

Rectify Present Errors.
In getting through the senate the bills were amended quite a bit. Proponents of the measures declare they rectify phases of the present law which might lead the Supreme bench to bowl it off the books.

Two main changes made by the proposed primary scheme relate to the election of delegates-at-large to national conventions and to the make up of party county committees. Ward committeemen in Chicago are wiped out and in their place are to be more than 2,200 precinct committeemen.

With the presidential campaign looming up much interest has centered in what the bills propose to do concerning preferential votes and selection of national delegates.

Governor's Bill Changed.
In its original form, the bill, as sent up by Gov. Small, provided that district delegates should be elected by the congressional committees. This has been changed. As the bills stand district delegates and alternates to national nominating conventions are to be elected by direct vote at the April primaries, as is now done.

Delegates-at-large to the national conventions, however, are to be selected by the state conventions.

The preferential vote on president is retained practically unchanged. Any candidate for president may have his name printed on the primary ballot by filing a petition signed by 3,000 to 5,000 electors of his party. The vote is to obtain an expression of the sentiment of the party voters. The state vote is to be advisory to the delegates at large and the vote by congressional districts is to be considered as advisory to the district delegates.

New Party Machinery.
The second contemplated revision deals with the party machinery. It is aimed at revising the provision in the law dealing with the voting power of committeemen.

As the bills stand, precinct committeemen would be elected for two years. In the county committees and convention, each precinct committeeman is to have one vote for each ballot voted in his precinct by the electors of his party.

May Pick "Bosses."
Chicago's situation in the bill is the subject of much talk. In the original bill, committeemen were to be elected by wards. As the bill emerged from the senate, however, Chicago's ward committeemen have been dropped and a municipal central committee for each political party to be composed of the precinct committeemen is substituted.

Instead of being able to hold sessions of the ward committeemen in a hotel parlor, the party will have to hire a hall for a meeting of its 2,200 committeemen.

However, the politicians are quick to point out, there is nothing in the law to prevent the formation of the old fashioned managing committees composed of the ward leaders. Precinct committeemen in a ward might pick the big boss of their territory to sit in the inner party councils.

These are the main changes so far spotted by the politicians who have been looking the bills over, although there are many minor changes and there may be amendments in the house. The general theory is that the substitution of precinct committeemen for ward committeemen in Chicago was put into the bill by the Lundin-Robertson-Small group, with the idea it might strengthen them.

Five Bellboys Held in Student Liquor Case

DIVORCES COUNT

MRS. GRACE CYFER.

Frederick J. D. Cyfer, who in Holland has the title of the Count of Weingarten, was divorced yesterday before Superior Judge Charles Williams by Mrs. Grace ("Fifi") Cyfer, 4766 Sheridan road. She testified there was nothing noble about his treatment of her and that he treated her cruelly when she spoke lightly of his ancestors and his tulips on his father's ancestral estates.

There was no question raised as to whether she would drop the title of countess on the signing of the decree, for in Chicago the husband is simply Mr. Cyfer, sales manager of the Real Silk Hosiery company. Through her attorney, Hugo Porter, she waived all money.

Three New Members of Aero Commission Named
Mayor Thompson yesterday named three new members of the Chicago aero commission. They are Paul Henderson, manager of the National Air Transport company; Capt. J. W. Deslitta, an air mail pilot, and M. L. Bromberg, a member of Gov. Small's aero advisory committee. Mr. Henderson, it was reported, is slated for the chairmanship of the commission.

COUNT DE JANZE DIVORCES WIFE, WHO SHOT MAN

Accuses Ex-Chicago Girl of Desertion.

BY JAY ALLEN.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
PARIS, June 15.—Count Pres de Janze, unhappy husband of Alice Sillverthorne of Chicago, today won his divorce in the Paris courts and the custody of their two children.

Charging his young Chicago wife, a relative of the J. Ogden Armour, with desertion, Count de Janze filed suit late last year after she had made it plain that she preferred the affection of Vincent de Trafford, her British suitor, to his after almost a two years' affair with the young Englishman, both in Paris and Kenya, Africa, where the De Janzes went for the count's health. The suit was well under way before the countess shot Mr. de Trafford and turned the gun on herself when, soon to be divorced, she learned that the English clubman had abandoned his intention of marrying her.

Yielding to the pleading of his mother, the dowager countess, who is fond of Alice, Count de Janze refrained from mentioning anything but desertion in his suit.

The count's health, which had kept him in sanatoriums for the last two years while Mr. de Trafford's affair with the countess was progressing, is said to be vastly improved. However, he is rarely seen with Emily Davies Vanderbilt since W. H. Vanderbilt arrived in France.

Countess Alice has been carefully hidden by her aunt, Mrs. May, supposedly in a nursing home near Paris, while her lawyers are attempting to get the charge growing out of the shooting dismissed. She was released from prison on bail and it is said Mr. de Trafford will not appear to prosecute her.

Woman Shot at Drinking Party Dies of Wounds

Edna Reed, 35 years old, 331 Loomis street, died at the county hospital yesterday from bullet wounds alleged to have been inflicted on June 2 by Mrs. Mary Strand in the latter's home at 1628 West Adams street during a drinking party. Mrs. Strand and a brother are being held.

Girl Weds Performer and Her Charge Is Dismissed

Miss Jennie Seelman, 17 years old, who left her Indianapolis home after hearing Charles Oakley, a vaudeville performer, play his harmonica, yesterday was married to him and her charge against him was dismissed before Judge William R. Fetzner.

Jury Selected to Try Girl Accused of Theft

A jury was selected yesterday in Judge Philip L. Sullivan's court to try Peggy Collins, 18 years old, who is charged with the theft of a $700 fur coat and three rings valued at $2,300 from the home of Mrs. J. Ray Cagney, 5080 West Congress street, more than a year ago. The girl was employed as a maid in Mrs. Cagney's home on March 8, 1926, and within an hour, according to the charges, fled her job, taking with her the coat and rings. She was arrested here recently after police had trailed her to other cities.

Winnipeg 'Gorilla' Slayer Captured and Escapes

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
WINNIPEG, Man., June 15.—Manitoba mounted police tonight captured the stranger murderer of two women in Winnipeg at Killarney, southern Manitoba. They put him in the town lockup and went away to wire Winnipeg headquarters. Before they returned he picked the lock of the jail and escaped. A special train of detectives left Winnipeg at 1 o'clock to search the country for him.

Dry Agents Raid Nine Cafes in Milwaukee

Milwaukee, Wis., June 15.—(AP)—Thirty federal prohibition agents, including twenty from Chicago, tonight raided nine cafes in Milwaukee's downtown district. Split into groups, the dry agents entered the places at scheduled times, seizing alleged liquor, wine, and beer as evidence and rounding up proprietors, bartenders, and waiters.

Tornadoes, Floods, Hail Devastate White Russia

MOSCOW, June 15.—(AP)—Thirty-nine districts of the White Russian republic on the Polish border have been devastated by tornadoes, cloudbursts, and hail. Many are reported drowned and thousands homeless. The Mowr, Slutsk, Bobruisk, and Minsk districts suffered most severely. The town of Kozireff is said to have been razed.

COSGRAVE LOSES SEVEN SEATS IN IRISH ELECTION

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
DUBLIN, June 15.—Tabulation of the vote at the National university this evening completed the returns of the recent elections. The government secured 46 seats, a net loss of seven in the Dail Eireann; Fianna Fail (De Valera's party), 44; the Sinn Fein, 8; labor, 22; farmers, 11; independent republicans, 2. These, with the speaker already elected, make a complete Dail of 153 seats.

In the National university Minister Magilligan and Prof. Clery, independent republicans, were elected. Prof. McNeill, government, and Prof. Magilligan, Clan Eireann, defeated Mr. Magilligan, blotting out his party.

President Cosgrave will have only seven fewer seats than at the dissolution. It is believed he will annex ten members from the farmers and independents and be stronger than before the election. Eamon De Valera says his forty-four will refuse to take the oath of allegiance to the king. If they hold out, another election is probable.

Retrial of Fernekes Case Is Delayed Until June 27

Henry J. (Midge) Fernekes, who was saved from the gallows by a Supreme court reversal, will not be called upon to face a second jury until June 27 as a result of a continuance of his case yesterday by Chief Justice William J. Lindsay of the Criminal court. The judge was forced to continue the retrial of the case because he is now engaged in the trial of Albert Anselmi and John Scialisi, Genna gangsters.

PLAN TOUR TO GET IDEAS FOR NEW CIVIC HALL

Eight members of the citizens' commission supervising the plans for the $15,000,000 town hall will tour the country, inspecting examples of architecture and studying convention halls in other cities, it was decided yesterday. The county board authorized an appropriation for the expenses of this tour.

The committee will collect ideas on the probable size of the new hall and view the latest improvements in the auditoriums of Cleveland, Atlantic City, New York, Memphis, and Minneapolis. The tour is sponsored by W. Rufus Abbott, chairman of the committee on construction and design. Three county commissioners, three members of the committee on construction and design, County Architect Eric E. Hall, and John F. Delaney, representing President Cermak, will take the trip.

CHOPPY WATER KEEPS DARGUE FROM FLYING

Good Will Aviator Guest of A. of C.

A shifting east wind which churned the surface of Lake Michigan prevented Maj. H. A. Dargue, commander of the Pan-American good will flyers, from taking off in his amphibious plane, the New York, for Milwaukee yesterday afternoon.

Maj. Dargue and his companion, Walter O. Lochner, president of the National Association of Commercial Organizations, who had landed easily in the morning off the Oak street beach despite the choppy water, decided against attempting to rise from the lake and made the trip to Milwaukee by train. The plane was left in Chicago. Maj. Dargue intends to return for it today.

Gives Address at A. of C.
Arriving in the morning from Grand Rapids, Mich., the flyers were greeted by a large crowd, including delegations of city officials and the aviation committee of the Association of Commerce, headed by President William R. Davies. After the lake front ceremonies Maj. Dargue was taken to the Hotel La Salle as guest of the Association of Commerce at its weekly luncheon.

Maj. Dargue told of the 20,000 mile Pan-American flight and of its success in cementing friendship between the United States and the South American countries.

So eager were the South Americans to facilitate their flight that at one time the Argentine government stationed a dining car in the middle of Patagonia for their use should they be forced to land in the vicinity, Maj. Dargue said.

Committee Walks All Night.
Again when the planes were forced to land on a deserted spot on the Wisconsin coast south of Stanton, Maj. Dargue said, a welcoming committee walked an entire night from a nearby town to express its friendship.

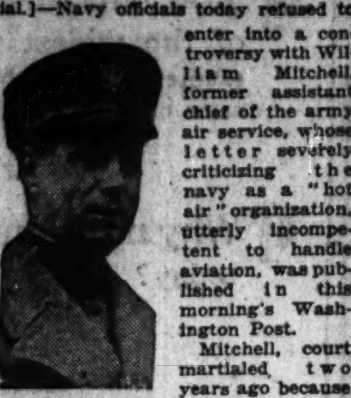

Maj. Dargue cautioned the members of the association that American salesmanship methods in South America are somewhat unwelcome to the merchants and consequently Germany, France, and Italy are securing business that should go to the United States. "Are you in the market to-day?" and similar brusque approaches, he said, alienate the Latin buyer.

NAB WOMEN AS THEY PARADE IN BREAD BOYCOTT

Marching through the Douglas Park district, yelling "down with 30 cent bread," several women pickets were arrested yesterday for their activities in attempting to boycott the orthodox Jewish bakeries which recently raised the price of bread 10 cents a loaf. Earlier in the day five women were given suspended fines of $100 when they were arraigned on the same offense before Judge Joseph L. McCarthy in the Des Plaines street court. They were charged with starting a riot and mauling several purchasers who refused to join the price-protest war. The trouble started several weeks ago when members of the Jewish Bakers' association, headed by Philip Lazar, increased the price of rye and pumpernickel bread from 20 to 30 cents.

NAVY IGNORES CHARGE OF MITCHELL THAT IT DELAYED LINDY'S HOP

Washington, D. C., June 15.—(Special.)—Navy officials today refused to enter into a controversy with William Mitchell, former assistant chief of the army air service, whose letter severely criticizing the navy as a "hot air" organization, utterly incompetent to handle aviation, was published in this morning's Washington Post. Mitchell, court-martialed two years ago because of his alleged incompetence in handling the trans-Atlantic flight of the trans-Atlantic plane, the Spirit of St. Louis, is now in the navy as a "hot air" organization, utterly incompetent to handle aviation, was published in this morning's Washington Post.

LINDY GETS PASS GOOD TO ALL BIG LEAGUE GAMES

New York, June 15.—(AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh will never have to look through a knothole to see a ball game. Something happened to Lindbergh today that would make him the envy of every boy in America even if he did not hold that position in their hearts already.

At the apartment where he is staying with his mother he was presented with a solid gold pass by the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues. The pass, the first of its kind ever to be issued, is good for the holder's lifetime and is good for admission to any park under organized baseball regulation.

KILLER TRAILED AS HERO OF JAIL BREAK IS REPAID

Hobo Who Killed Slayer
Tells His Story.

Scores of detectives last night combed the far south side Mexican colonies in an intensive search for Charles Shader, one of the condemned "Klein killers" who got away in the Joliet jailbreak on Monday. The search was carried there after the fugitive, for whom the whole state is on the alert, was reported to have been seen late in the day on the industrial highway near Gary, Ind., making his way toward South Chicago. Authorities at Joliet, who received the word that Shader had been seen, immediately notified the detective bureau in Chicago.

Ready to Shoot to Kill.
The detectives went to the Mexican section heavily armed and prepared to shoot to kill, for it was there that a policeman was shot to death by the same gang of killers when three of them, all Mexicans, made their second jailbreak, two months ago. As the search for Shader went on, John L. Bell, 22, of Revere, Mass., hero of the jail break, was telling how he happened to be in it.

It was Bell who seized a gun from somebody, and by his cool courage and straight shooting foiled the escape.

Credited With Fatal Shot.
While the condemned murderers' bullets whistled all around him, Bell is credited—although he doesn't admit it—with firing the shot that killed Gregorio Rizzo, one of the four desperadoes. Rizzo is thought to have known that Bell who did it, for the wounded desperado leaped from the sheriff's car in which he sat when the shot pierced him, and struck Bell in the mouth before he dropped to the ground dead.

Bell had come to Joliet with a street carnival troupe. And he looked it. Dressed in overalls and a worn dirty shirt and shoes with cracks in the uppers, he didn't look the hero he turned out to be.

That carnival troupe was too tough for me," he said. "A bunch of hard eggs, a bad element, awful rough—so I quit."

Walks to Rougher Climate.
So he quit—and walked from the carnival tents down to the center of Joliet, and into the midst of the jail break.

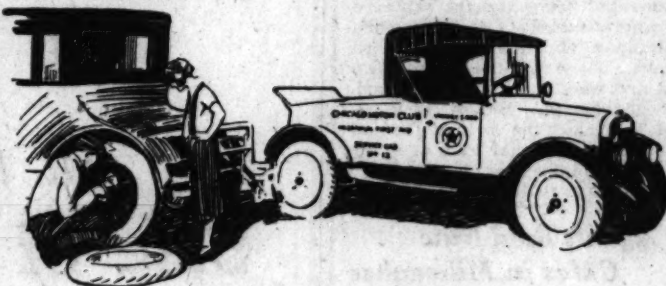

Bell had learned to shoot straight in the army—he was mustered out about 18 months ago. After that he had gone west, "doing a little cow punching, some mining and some harvesting. Recently he wanted to go back home to Revere to his father and mother and he had picked up with carnival outfits going in his direction.

John L. Bell yesterday had doffed his denim for a neat blue suit and a real shirt. The outfit had been given him by Peter H. McCarthy, superintendent of the Morning Star mission in Joliet, who has a hobby for helping boys back home.

After the inquest into the death of Rizzo is held in the Will county court house today John L. Bell will buy a ticket to Revere, Mass. Peter H. McCarthy will see to that. And John L. Bell will have a few dollars and some extra change making a fine tinkling music in the pockets of his new suit as he climbs aboard the train.

EMPLOYMENT ON DECLINE IN MAY, SURVEY SHOWS

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., June 15.—(Special.)—Labor surpluses in most of the states and a slight decline in operating time and unemployment in several major industries are reported for May by the department of labor in its monthly survey. Only in a few sections, however, was the volume of employment large.

In discussing conditions in Illinois the report says:
"Reports from Illinois manufacturers indicate that the course of factory employment was downward during the first three weeks of May. Although the trend is to be regarded as seasonal in nature, it comes at a time when the industrial activity of the state is below its usual level."

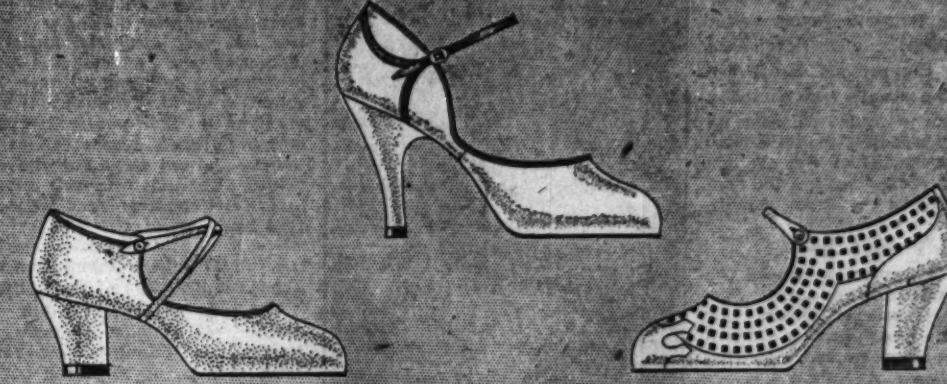

"Heavy rains have retarded outside work to such an extent that contracting and road building operations are from three to six weeks behind their usual spring schedule. The discontinuance of coal mining has made it necessary to dismiss hundreds of railway workers who have been engaged in transporting coal."

"Reports from 360 Chicago manufacturers indicate that Chicago is undergoing its usual springtime curtailment of factory operations," the report continues. "Important exceptions are noted to this downward trend in many of the major activities, however. More employees are reported by meat packers than a month ago. Favorable weather has made it possible for contractors and road builders to increase their activities, although the prospects are that building activities will soon decline."

MR. MELLON DOES GOOD DAY'S WORK FOR UNCLE SAM

Cuts Interest on Public Debt Many Millions.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., June 15.—(Special.)—This was Mr. Mellon's busy day behind the counter of Uncle Sam's counting house.

Mr. Mellon took in close to $400,000,000 in income and other tax payments, due on the completion of the second quarter of the calendar year. He took in about $59,000,000, paid by the debtors of Europe on American war loans. He sold $249,598,300 of new treasury 3 1/2 per cent bonds.

Then he paid off maturing short term securities aggregating $378,000,000 and paid $70,000,000 in interest on various issues of the Liberty bonds.

A very profitable day's business for Uncle Sam, Mr. Mellon pronounced it, for the receipts went to swell the $900,000,000 surplus for the fiscal year ending June 30, next, and the retirement of Liberty bonds and refinancing involved in the transactions mean the reduction of the annual interest on the public debt many millions of dollars.

Liberty Bond Procedure.

To top off the day, Mr. Mellon announced the procedure under which second Liberty bond owners who do not wish to exchange their holdings for the new 3 1/2 per cent bonds may sell their securities directly to the government.

"Holders of Second Liberty loan bonds, both second 4s and second 4 1/2s, who may not desire to exchange them for the new 3 1/2 per cent treasury bonds of 1943-47, are now given the opportunity, until the close of business on June 25, to sell their bonds direct to the government, with the understanding that the lowest offers may be accepted, if satisfactory to the secretary of the treasury," said Mr. Mellon.

"This procedure will save commission charges to the seller and to the treasury."

Asked to Submit Proposals.

"Accordingly, the treasury invites all holders of Second Liberty loan bonds to submit proposals for the sale of these bonds. From the lowest proposals received the treasury expects to purchase a limited amount of such bonds. All proposals should be handed through a bank, trust company or recognized dealer, who will deal with the Federal Reserve banks, which are the official agencies for the treasury in these transactions."

Byrd's Plane Stays in Its Hangar; Ocean Gale Still On

New York, June 15.—(Special.)—Commander Richard E. Byrd's trimotored Fokker monoplane America remained shut in its hangar today at Roosevelt field, poised and prepared, except for the addition of fuel, for the proposed nonstop flight to Paris.

Commander Byrd announced last night in Winchester, Va., where he had gone to receive a university degree, he would hop off as soon as the storm now raging over the Atlantic had cleared up. The weather bureau reports this will not occur for at least two days.

The north pole flyer refused to confirm reports circulated yesterday that he intended to make a round trip from here to Paris or that he intended to take the America on to Berlin after a stay of only a few hours in Paris for refueling.

Grover A. Whalen, speaking for outstanding Second Liberty bonds had been offered in exchange for the new 3 1/2 per cent bonds.

The largest payment on the war debts was made by Great Britain—$47,875,000, which was the ninth semi-annual payment of interest. It was made in Liberty bonds aggregating $67,574,982.63 in principal and interest, and the remaining $19,700,000 in cash.

The bonds were immediately canceled, thus reducing the public debt to the amount of the principal.

France paid $30,000,000 "on account." The total indebtedness of that country to the United States is $4,025,000,000 under the terms of the settlement negotiated last year, but which the French parliament so far has not ratified. The payment today was made "without prejudice" to the future.

Italy paid $5,000,000 on the principal of its debt, and smaller payments were made by Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Estonia, Finland, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Poland, Roumania, and Yugoslavia.

CHICAGO AREA
PAYS 32 MILLION
ON INCOME TAX

Payments in the Chicago district for the second installment of the 1926 income tax totaled $32,328,846.01 at 6 o'clock last night with 30,000 having paid.

For the same period in 1926 the returns totaled $22,510,489.84, with 26,400 paying. Greater prosperity and the increased number of persons who filed returns are said by revenue officials to have caused the increase.

Hundreds of letters and returns were being held in the various postoffices last night, having been mailed too late to be included in the last bank deposit. These payments, if mailed before midnight yesterday, will be accepted as having been made within the time limit.

GERMANS STREW ROSES IN PATH OF YANK FLYERS

Chamberlin and Levine
Get Special Honors.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

FRANKFURT, Germany, June 15.—(Copyright: 1927: By The Chicago Tribune.)—Clarence Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine, the American trans-Atlantic flyers, arrived here this evening. The American heroes were lifted out of their plane by the enthusiastic crowds and carried around the field, while young girls of Frankfurt spread a carpet of roses in their path.

The American flyers came from south Germany in a six passenger Dornier plane loaned them by Luft-Hansa, the German commercial air company. Mr. Chamberlin piloted the plane from Friedrichshafen to Stuttgart while Mr. Levine took the stick from Stuttgart to Frankfurt.

The flyers announced that they will fly to Bremen tomorrow. The North German Lloyd line, which is bringing their plane to Germany, has put a ship at their disposal to enable them to steam out on the ocean early in the morning at dawn Friday to meet Mrs. Chamberlin and Mrs. Levine. The reunited families will fly to Hamburg, then to Magdeburg, and back to Berlin, where they will pick up the Miss Columbia and start on a tour of some of the European capitals.

Honored by Wurttemberg.

The state parliament of Wurttemberg at Stuttgart today paid special honors to Mr. Chamberlin and Mr. Levine, who arrived at noon. During their triumphal tour of Germany, every city in the country is striving to surpass its neighbors in splendor of the reception to the flyers.

The parliament was convened specially to ask the American flyers to extend the greetings of Wurttemberg to the Wurttembergers in America, and above all those in Chicago.

In the motor car in which the Americans rode from the flying field to the center of old Stuttgart, they were literally buried under roses. After the ceremony in parliament they were escorted to the old town hall, where centuries old gold loving cups passed from hand to hand.

Shown Giant Airplane.

While the festival inspired by ancient traditions held the flyers this afternoon, they spent the morning in Germany's Zeppelin plant and its most modern airplane factory, Dornier, at Friedrichshafen. They were shown the entire Dornier plant, including the new superwhale Dornier, which is a multi-motored seaplane capable of making 25,000 miles with twenty-five passengers and still carry six tons of extra weight. This new plane has carried out test flights with sixty passengers.

Only the room in which the Dornier engineers have their model for a 100 passenger plane was not shown to the guests. The constructors claim this will be ready in a year and will be capable of carrying 100 passengers on nonstop flights to America.

Mr. Levine was so enthusiastic that he purchased a small new Dornier "Libella" for $3,000. The Dornier works is building these in an effort to get the public interested in piloting their own planes just as they now use motor cars.

The flyers had luncheon at the home of Dr. Hugo Eckener, Zeppelin builder, after inspecting the big airship plant.

LINDY'S PLEA HEARD; PRESS CLUB BEGINS DRIVE FOR AIRPORTS

Washington, D. C., June 15.—(Special.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's plea for the establishment of air ports in every city, town and village is already bearing fruit. The board of governors of the National Press club, before which the flying colonel voiced the suggestion during the reception in his honor last Saturday night, today urged the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to enlist local chambers and trade bodies in a nation-wide movement for the development of landing fields.

Representative Fred A. Britten [Rep., Ill.], took the colonel's suggestion as a challenge to Chicago, now the world's greatest railroad center, to "display its old time 'I Will' spirit and become America's aviation center."

"Col. Lindbergh's frank acknowledgment that we are behind Europe in the development of air passenger service should open the eyes of those interested in commercial aviation," Mr. Britten declared. "Within five years, there will be a dozen different companies carrying passengers and commerce into Chicago, and the volume of their business will depend largely on the kind of a landing place Chicago provides for their safety and convenience. Let's do it now."

"An air port located at Madison and State streets would attract planes from every direction. That location being impossible of acquisition, then Grant park."

LIQUID GRANITE VARNISH

SAD experience may have taught you that varnish scratches and mars easily—that it must be refinished frequently. True—of ordinary varnishes!

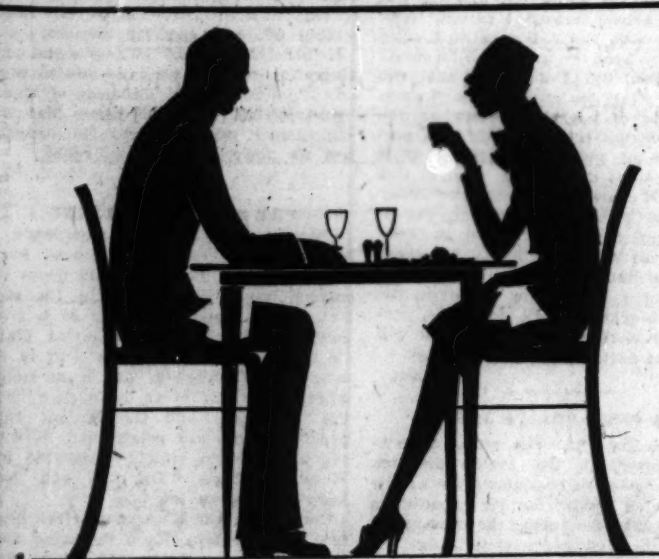

But in the half-forgotten crinoline days, before the Civil War, Thomas and Joseph Berry began making Liquid Granite—a varnish to walk on.

There are hundreds of fine old homes today that bear testimony of the unequalled durability of this remarkable product. In many of them Liquid Granite looks as fresh and beautiful as when first applied—a generation or two ago.

Good paint and hardware stores have Liquid Granite. It costs no more than less durable quality. Demand it.

NOT HYSTERICAL.

MR. INSULL.

Samuel Insull says that the traction bills were prepared to promote the best interests of the city and to permit to settlement advantageous to the citizens and the companies. He also says that the opposition to the bills appears to be a mass hysteria in a libelous fashion and does not attack the fundamentals of the legislation.

Mr. Insull is ignoring many things related to or contained in the present situation. Last year it was found by the Reed investigating committee that he had given $237,920 to influence the election of a United States senator from Illinois and also some local elections in Chicago. He had given $125,000 to Frank L. Smith, chairman of the Illinois commerce commission in control of public utilities. He had given $15,000 to George Brennan in control of the Democratic party in the state. He had given $45,000 to influence nominations for local elections and he refused to say to whom $40,000 of this was paid for or for what purpose. Whether he is to be punished for contempt of the United States senate for persisting in this refusal is to be determined. He also gave money to aid in the opposition to the world court and he said that his feeling against the court inclined him to support the chairman of the Illinois commerce commission with $125,000.

Many people have not been able to find in Mr. Insull's sentiments about the world court a complete explanation of his investment of about a quarter of a million dollars in Illinois politics, on both sides of the fence.

In the first legislature which met after these disclosures of Mr. Insull's investment in politics five traction bills prepared in the law office of traction attorneys appeared with the support of the traction interests. They were introduced May 17, obviously having been delayed until after the Chicago election. There were barely more than a month of the session remaining.

A statement of what they proposed was given by Henry A. Blair, Britton L. Budd and Leonard A. Busby, and the senate began railroad hearings. The majority of Cook county senators were found in support of them. Mayor Thompson appeared briefly before the legislature to say that he couldn't see any danger spots in them and the city council indicated either its indifference or approval.

No amendments were considered except such as were presented from the traction law office. The corporation counsel, a man appointed from Mr. Insull's law office, has spent considerable time in Springfield but not, to public knowledge, in giving any consideration to these traction bills. At the beginning of this week it was common expectation that the house of representatives would send them through the three readings, and that in a month of legislative work Chicago would be presented with a traction made legislative settlement of transportation.

As one of the newspapers opposing this legislation in its present form The Tribune asks Mr. Insull what he could expect of public opinion in such circumstances. Hook up all the pertinent events of this year and last, and how was the conclusion to be avoided that Mr. Insull had obtained control of all Illinois politics to pass these traction bills before the citizens could wake up to what was happening? If that was not the case, Mr. Insull has been careless of appearances.

If the bills had been beyond criticism in safeguarding public interest even then the lack of cooperation with the city in their preparation and advancement through the legislature would have been strange. Mr. Insull says that criticism does not touch their fundamentals. We do not know what he considers the essentials.

It is a fundamental that the city is not granted permission to give indeterminate franchises, but is to be prevented from giving anything else. It would be a liberal recognition of possible traction requirements if the legislature granted the council authority to give the use of the streets under such conditions as the franchise bill makes mandatory. That would be enabling legislation. It would enable the council to deal with each specific case as it was judged best.

The traction interests have proposed to the legislature that the council be stopped from any bargaining for a traction settlement which did not concede at the start that the bargain was for the use of the streets so long as the franchise holders cared to use them.

That would be the effect of this legislation. The prospect has not produced any mass hysteria. Singularly enough the demagogic elements which have assembled all reasonable traction proposals for the last ten years are entirely silent. They haven't a thing to say when these bills threaten to make a perpetual disposal of Chicago transportation and to lock the city in the ice box.

If it is mass hysteria, to object to this, then a householder bolting his door at night should be arrested for disorderly conduct.

THE ROOTS OF THE GAS TAX.

The house has passed the 3 cent gas tax bill which will cost motorists $13,000,000 a year in Illinois. The senate, according to the legislative correspondents, is certain to go along. The bill is one of the governor's pet measures, and there is therefore no question of a veto.

The bill, sponsored by the Illinois Agricultural association, has been modified slightly since its defeat earlier in the session. In the original form the bill took millions of dollars out of Chicago and gave nothing back to Chicago motorists. Now it takes millions, but returns a fraction. The farmers get the roads and Chicago and other cities of the state pay most of the cost.

The bill demonstrates hatred for Chicago and contempt for automobilists. In passing the bill the legislature is taking orders from the governor, who wants the tax for the power it gives him politically.

HOW TO HELP UNSKILLED LABOR.

The President's plea for the unskilled workers who have not come into full participation of the wealth of the nation "should be given sympathetic consideration by congress when it is dealing with immigration policy. It is true that unskilled labor has not prospered in proportion to the highly organized and generally intelligent skilled workers, and the way to help unskilled labor is to protect it from competition with immigrant labor from countries of lower economic and social standards. Our new policy of protection by strict restriction has not covered the unskilled. Shut out Mexican and east European labor and the unskilled American worker will soon begin to share, as the President and all right minded men and women would have him share, more fairly in the prosperity and progress of our country.

THE IRISH ELECTION.

Counting the vote under the system of proportional representation requires so much time that it is not yet certain how many seats in the Dail Eireann, the Irish parliament, each of the parties has won. The election was held last Thursday.

In general, there appears to be no doubt that the voters have endorsed the Free State as constituted by treaty with the Lloyd George government. De Valera, the uncompromising Republican, will head the second strongest party in the Dail, but he will fall far short of a majority. His party will not muster more than a third of the total membership and the rest will oppose his efforts to cut loose from the British commonwealth.

The probability is that President Cosgrave will have to form a coalition cabinet, in which he will be able to include the able men of the previous government, almost all of whom have been re-elected.

Ireland has kept off the front pages for several years. The country for hundreds of years was in continuous and often active rebellion. In the years immediately preceding the founding of the Free State, though the whole world was then accustomed to the ruthlessness of war, the bitterness of the fighting in Ireland won it a prominent place in the news. Assassination and counter assassination made of the country an armed camp. Social disintegration went so far that many observers were led to believe that, no matter which side would be the victor, Ireland could not be pacified for a generation or more. The prediction was given added weight after the Free State treaty was made at London. No sooner had the Free State government been declared than the Republicans rose against it. Irishmen turned from warring upon Englishmen to warring upon one another.

There is no doubt that the Free State has employed methods of suppressing rebellion little less ruthless than those employed by the British, but with this difference: The Free State government was a government of Irishmen. Great progress toward the pacification of the country has followed. The country has now reached the point where political disputes are settled by peaceful means. The Irish government has shown much constructive ability. It is developing the power of the River Shannon and within a short time will be able to supply current to almost every corner of the Free State at low cost. The government has taken steps to improve the situation of the dairy farmers. The result of the election in Ireland is an intimation that the peaceful progress of recent months is to continue. The true friends of Ireland and the Irish will hope that at length the political unrest in the island is at an end.

Editorial of the Day

THE ST. LAWRENCE PROJECT.

[The Toronto Globe.]
While governments and the public await further announcements regarding the St. Lawrence waterway and power scheme, which is still under consideration by experts, various objections are heard from interested or timid persons. Mr. Frank H. Keefer, K. C., Port Arthur, who represented Ontario at prolonged hearings at Washington, has issued a small pamphlet in answer to critics of the waterway.

One favorite complaint has been that the joint waterway would mean control by Canada and the United States of what is, after all, a Canadian waterway. Mr. Keefer points out that the United States already has full navigation rights on the St. Lawrence and other boundary waters under the Washington treaty of 1857 and the treaty of 1901.

Another objection heard is that it is not merely a navigation project, but that its advocates have particularly in mind the development of power. As Mr. Keefer says, the waterway is strongly favored by eighteen middle west states and by the prairie provinces of Canada, who could not possibly be benefited by the power to be developed on the St. Lawrence.

The complaint that the waterway would hurt Montreal is effectively answered. "What is Montreal without Canada?" Mr. Keefer asks. "If the improvement of the St. Lawrence increases the general prosperity of Canada, and opens the interior of the continent to the maritime provinces and to British Columbia, how can Montreal be hurt?" He adds: "With the Wabigoon and the St. Lawrence canal completed, Montreal would sit on two oceans—the salted and the unsalted seas. What a crossroad of commerce from all the seas of the world! What a manufacturing point for assembling raw material, with cheap transportation to and from the markets of the world, and with hydro-electric power developed at her door and used in Canada! What a spectacle of blessed vision when it is said the improvement would 'hurt the port of Montreal!'"

HOW TO BE COOL WHEN HOT DAYS COME.
SAYERS and Davenport have assembled a collection of opinions and observations on ventilation, heating, and cooling which will prove of great value if the people will make use of them. The hot season is close enough at hand to begin thinking about what lies before us.

In the Sayers and Davenport paper there is a lot of information for people who want to keep comfortable this summer. They come out of having said the healthy human body, when untrammelled by unsuitable clothing, when not exhausted by fatigue or excesses, when not clogged by surfeit of food, by alcoholic drinks, or by drugs, can support with impunity very high temperatures.

In many parts of the world men live and work out of doors at temperatures 100 or even 120.

Note the importance of light eating, and much more important still, of not drinking any alcoholic beverages in any amounts.

As to the question of clothes, they quote Leonard Hill as saying the very best garment for a well-tanned man in very hot weather is the one worn by the East Indian—a single, flapping, sunproof white robe, loose enough to be well ventilated.

For a well-tanned person he recommends an open meshed cotton or linen garment. If the person is not tanned the weave should be close enough to keep out the light. In most circumstances a person who works in the shade, say in a laundry or machine shop, will keep cooler if he will strip his body to the skin—wear no shirt at all.

But if the circumstances are such that he needs evaporation of sweat to keep him cool he will be more comfortable if he wears a cotton garment with a fairly open mesh. The cloth will absorb sweat and cause it to evaporate and thus cool the skin. Sweat that runs off in cooling. A wet woven garment will hold water better than a cotton one. The air in the mesh of woolen cloth prevents chilling. But evaporation of sweat goes on faster from a cotton garment.

In moderately hot weather fanning helps to keep one cool. But if the air is very hot putting it in motion with a fan will increase one's discomfort. It is particularly true if the air is both wet and hot.

DISTILLED VS. SPRING WATER.
F. H. writes: "Is distilled water as healthful as spring water?"

2. What effect has iodine of potassium on one's system? Will it cure disease or what is it used for?

3. If one has chronic bronchitis and spits up blood at times, especially during change of weather, is this a sign of tuberculosis?

REPLY.
1. Many nations use it altogether while at sea. Many doctors say it is healthier than plain water.

2. It is a mine and should not be used except as such. It is a standard remedy in all nephritis and after rheumatism and for a body's chronic disease.

3. It may be. A man with these symptoms should be thoroughly examined for tuberculosis. If he has it, he should be told that he may take proper precautions to protect his family.

BABY HAS BIRTHMARK.
Mrs. T. L. writes: "My baby daughter, aged 4 months, has a birthmark on her chin near her lip. It has grown quite large since she was born. It was as small as a pinhead and is now as large as a dime. I would like to have it attended to while she is a baby. Please advise me."

2. My hands are covered with warts. One having a warty finger has tried a number of remedies, and they don't seem to heal. What causes this, and how can I remedy it?

REPLY.
1. Birthmarks are due to increase in size up to a certain point. I think you had better wait. It is not easy to control a baby's birthmark.

2. There are different kinds of warts. Some warts are due to infection. One should have a doctor examine them and have the warts removed daily with ointment. Keep your hands clean and dry.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

ODE TO A SKY-PIECE.

Lines composed for the most part in a taxi after seeing Betty come forth wearing another new hat.

Hail to thee! blithe chapeau,
Modish little bonnet!
(Snappy brim turned down just so,
Silver dangle on it!)

Hail to thee, and likewise greeting, (Shelley's ghost is groggy, I feel.
At the next Young Poet's meeting,
I'll explain this little steal.)

Hail to thee, but why so moony,
Snug upon thy dark, young head?—
Hail! this girl was known for beauty,
Long before you held a thread!

Green hats, black hats, red and poppy
Hats, I've seen them come and go;
Small hats, wide hats, some quite floppy,
Graced this head, ere thou, chapeau!

Lid that set her back more kopeks,
Than I pay for hats each year,
Paris model! Here's the dope—
Expect the fate of all headgear.

Yet until that day eventful,
* Serve thy mistress undeterred,
Who can say what smart young gent will Save your life with just a word!

DOWN WITH EDWIN ROBERT PETRE!
Edwin Robert Petre, you must die! You have uttered a vile slander against our beautiful city of Chicago. We challenge you to a duel and we name the favorite weapon of our great metropolis—machine guns, at ten paces. And the Literary Digest, too, must fight, and Funk & Wagnalls likewise. What has happened? We will tell you. Edwin Robert Petre is the author of a new guide book, "When You Go to Europe," and a very good guide book, too, but, having the villainous libel concerning our great subway metropolis on the unsalted western sea. He wrote the book, the Literary Digest sponsored it, and Funk & Wagnalls published it. There you are.

Now as to the horrible accusation contained in the book, "When You Go to Europe." Turn, kind friends, and with flashing eyes and rising color, read on page 53, as follows—to wit—turn rule and quote.

"Chicago—The French Line—After the Illinois city of that name, which is Indian, in its derivation, from Chicaquong. When the word first appeared the city was inhabited by a tribe of Miami, in whose language 'se-kaw-kaw' means a skunk."

"SKUNK"—that's a fighting word, Mr. Edwin Robert Petre, in our country. If the name of Chicago means "skunk," then the people who come from Chicago should be called skunks. Edwin Robert Petre, that is a base libel started by designing persons down in St. Louis. The name "se-kaw-kaw," in the Miami language, does not mean a skunk. It means a wild onion. A wild onion is not the queen of the flowers, but it is a thousand times better than the wretched, obnoxious animal called the "skunk."

Call us what you will, Edwin Robert Petre, but not skunks. "Wild onions" you may term us, if you wish, and you will find the word is not inappropriate, for as we think over what you have said, we are growing wilder every hour. We'll wild onion you, Edwin Robert Petre, dare you ever cross our threshold! Up! Wild onions! What, ho, the machine guns!

This Will Make the PLACID Turn FIERCE.

HITCHED ON BEHIND

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 16, 1862.

WASHINGTON.—The senate confirmed the nomination of Gustavus Koerner of Illinois to be minister to Spain, and Charles Hubbard to be surveyor of customs at Galena, Ill.

CAIRO.—Col. James R. Slack, who has been appointed commander of the post at Memphis, arrived in that city and immediately took charge. His first order read: "Hereafter, the dealing in and passage of currency known as Confederate scrip or Confederate notes is positively prohibited, and the use thereof as a circulating medium will be regarded as an insult to the government of the United States."

WASHINGTON.—Dispatches from McClellan's army say the movements of the rebels in front of Richmond were extensive. Large bodies were moving down from Richmond toward the late battlefield. Our pickets were driven in at Old Church, showing the rebels' intention to make a demonstration in that direction. This morning the enemy opened a hot artillery fire on Gen. Sumner's division and it lasted for about three hours.

CHICAGO.—J. H. Mphike, the German delegate to the Illinois constitutional convention, authorized the statement that he regards the new constitution as dangerous to our liberties, and that he shall vote against it. He would like to see German countrymen to do the same.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY
JUNE 16, 1902.

MILWAUKEE.—The trustees of the University of Wisconsin will announce on Wednesday that President J. W. Bashford of the Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware has been chosen as president of the Wisconsin university to succeed Charles Kendall Adams.

LONDON.—King Edward had a chill attack, followed by influenza as a result of exposure Saturday night.

BOSTON.—Nearly 13,000 persons attended the two communion services held by the Christian Scientists in the Mechanics' hall and listened to the reading of the annual message of the Rev. Mary Baker G. Eddy, founder of the society, who was unable to be present.

CHICAGO.—A system of coeducation in which men and women may choose or shun classes in common is the plan presented by President Harper and other University of Chicago authorities for students who object to complete segregation of the sexes.

CHICAGO.—The curtain will rise on the first performance of the "Wizard of Oz" tonight at the Grand Opera House.

CHICAGO.—The National Bank of North America, the institution organized by Isaac N. Perry, will open for business this morning.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY
JUNE 16, 1917.

WASHINGTON.—American naval gunners met their first defeat in an open fight with a German submarine. The tank steamer Mores was abandoned after a running battle of two hours and it went to the bottom. Half an hour later the survivors were picked up by a passing steamer. Four of the Mores crew were killed.

WASHINGTON.—The first draft of the army to be drawn by selective conscription will be used to bring the regular army to war strength. The second will be used to fill gaps in the National Guard. Then will come the draft to furnish the national army of 600,000 men to go into training on Sept. 1.

WASHINGTON.—America soaked her first war loan with an enormous oversubscription of the $2,000,000,000 Liberty bonds. The city's allotment was $250,000,000.

SPRINGFIELD.—Gov. Lowden vetoed the Canadian bill abolishing capital punishment.

WAR NEWS.—London reports that the British have taken seven miles of German front from the River Lys to the River Warnow in Flanders since June 7. Field Marshal Haig again has attacked the Hindenburg line and captured a section of the famous German position northwest of Douai.

THIS YEAR'S BATHING SULTS.

Chicago, June 14.—Where are the centers of the bathing suits? Why don't they investigate at the stores and see the type of suit that is on the market? The other day I walked into a sporting goods store and took two of the new model bathing suits into the dressing room to try on. I was ashamed of myself when I looked into the glass. The top piece was white, very transparent and will be more so when it is wet, and the bottom piece consisted of extremely short trousers, very form fitting, minus a skirt. One might just as well be nude as wear one of these suits. They certainly do not leave anything to the imagination: I am only 19 years old and do not write the above because I cannot wear a bathing suit well. My bathing suits have always been the latest and brightest I could find, but I do think that the suits this year are entirely too scanty. The manufacturers put their suits on the market because they sell fast to a certain class of girls, and I think it is time that some one took a hand in this matter. Of course there is the possibility that these suits will not sell, for it takes a great deal of nerve to wear one of these immodest things, but there should be precautions taken to prevent any of these suits being worn on the Chicago beaches. Why don't the city council issue a statement as to what will be allowed on the beaches this year?

NOISY SWITCH ENGINES.
Chicago, June 10.—I recently moved into the district between Montrose and Lawrence avenues east of Elston, which I should judge, is about three-quarters of a mile east of a railroad switch yard. At least 100,000 people live within a radius of a mile of this switch yard, from which all night long the noisy puffing of engines may be heard as plainly as if they were working in the next block. In view of the fact that we are now living in an age in which electric energy is available, I wonder if it would be asking too much of the railroad companies to replace their noisy steam engines with electric engines, at least in their switch yards. They assemble and haul trains so long that they require the last pound of energy, with the resulting terribly noisy puffing of their obsolete engines. If there isn't enough initiative and consideration among the railroads to remedy this intolerable situation of their own volition, it would seem that the city council might be prevailed upon to use its powers to give us relief.

THE MAXIM OF LI-PING.
Chicago, June 13.—We can learn a lesson from Li-ping, a Chinese engineer who 2,100 years ago laid down the correct engineering principle for controlling the flood conditions of a river flowing through a flat alluvial plain. On the walls of the temple built to the memory of Li-ping at Kuan-Hsien, where the Min river debouches from the mountains and the ancient engineering works are established, is written a statement which, translated into English, means "Dig the bed deep, keep the banks low."

Controlling the Mississippi river flood is simple enough. Keep the river channel dredged to a depth sufficient to carry the water. It will cost money, but it is worth the expense and trouble, while the Mississippi valley a real waterway and put an end to floods.

A GOOD POLICE JOB.

COUNTY BOARD BURIES ATTACK ON GASOLINE TAX

City Council Denounces
Levy in Resolution.

A resolution condemning the gasoline tax was virtually buried yesterday by the county board through the efforts of four city commissioners and two from the country towns. At the same time the city council adopted a similar resolution unanimously. Admitting that political reasons and not the merits of defects of the tax legislation affected their votes, the six county commissioners, constituting a majority, refused to put themselves on record against the tax and voted to send the resolution to the committee on legislation. The roll call showed six ayes and five noes, four members being absent.

In contrast with the attitude of some of the county commissioners was the stand taken by the aldermen whose sentiments were expressed by Ald. Thomas J. Bowler (1st) when he declared "this bill proposes to make Gov. Small a rival of John D. Rockefeller in raking in gasoline profits." Copies of the county resolution were sent to every member of the legislature.

The county commissioners from the city, who voted to pigeonhole the gas tax resolution were John W. Gibson, Andrew Mettger, Francis Boutell, and Louis Nethorst. The country town commissioners who voted with them were William Bume and Oscar Schmidt.

Cermak Leads Foes of Tax.
The five commissioners who denounced the gasoline tax were Anton J. Cermak, president of the board; Emmett Whelan, who introduced the resolution; John Jaranowski, Frank Wilson and Maurice Kavanagh. These aldermen were Joseph P. Carroll, Frank Krix, Charles S. Peterson and Harry A. Newby.

Debate on the resolution provoked one of the most exciting county board meetings in years. Those who voted to shelve the resolution were accused of acquiescing in the burdening of Cook county taxpayers with more taxes in order to obtain personal favors from the legislature. The reports of those accused were bitter.

"I'm against the gas tax," said Commissioner Boutell after the Whelan resolution had been read. "I feel that Cook county won't get a square deal in the bill. But I think the proper procedure is to send it to the legislative committee where it can get careful consideration."

Whelan Charges Stalling.
"That will be stalling," asserted Commissioner Whelan. "The bill will be passed by the senate and become a law by the end of this week. Anyone voting to send this resolution to a committee is stalling with Gov. Small and against Cook county."

Commissioner Gibson then delivered a speech in which he frankly admitted that he didn't want to offend the feelings of the legislators who had done him so many favors.

"I've been a member of the legislature," he said. "And I know how they feel when someone takes a slap at them. It's not good policy to criticize the general assembly when it is in session. We may want some favors down there. The proper thing to do here is to send the resolution to the committee on legislation."

Commissioner Gibson is chairman of this committee.

Predicts Voters' Remorsement.
"Go ahead and bury the resolution, then," said President Cermak. "The people of this county are already hump-backed from carrying a load of taxes, and now you want to let the state go unhindered in adding another burden. I predict that those representatives and senators from this district who are backing the gasoline tax will never be re-elected. The people's resentment will reach them at the next election."

Commissioner Nethorst, who moved to refer the resolution to a committee, assured the board that he was against the gas tax, but that he was a stickler for following the rules, and therefore no action should be taken until there is a committee meeting.

Commissioner Wilson pointed out that, while he was for the gasoline tax on the principle that the person who uses the most gasoline uses the roads most, he was against the present gas tax bill because Cook county would be treated unfairly.

Commissioner Bume, leader in behalf of the gas tax, defended the bill, declaring that Cook county would be treated fairly.

INDIVIDUAL MINE OUTPUT GROWING, COAL MEN FIND

Association, in Convention
Here, Ignores Strike.

BY HARPER LEECH.

To outward appearances the soft coal strike is of little more concern to the delegates attending the tenth annual meeting of the National Coal Association here than it has appeared to be to the country at large. It was hardly mentioned in the sessions yesterday at the Edgewater Beach hotel.

Tonnage Is Increased.
Executive Secretary Harry L. Gandy said in his annual report that the tonnage represented by the ranks of the association has increased much more rapidly than the numerical membership.

Credits Cooperation.
The growth of the nonunion fields in production, the outstanding example of which is West Virginia, which has enabled the production of Illinois from 1918 to 1926, is not due to superior engineering or greater use of machinery, but to cooperation between workers and operators, said G. Bradley, president of the West Virginia Coal association.

More Schools Add Cash To Ironsides Fund
Three more schools yesterday closed their Old Ironsides accounts with the mayor's button committee. Their donations were as follows: Goodrich school, $68.90; Hanson Park, $33.50; Chicago, $24.50. With eighteen schools all out, the button fund yesterday totaled $2,742.90.

Evanson Boy Falls Off
Pile of Tiles; May Die
Stephen E. Burke Jr., 9-year-old son of the manager of the Evanson Building company of Evanson, sustained a skull fracture, from which it is believed he will die, when he fell yesterday from a pile of tile on which he was playing near his home, 715 Case street, Evanson.

C. C. COLBY IS NAMED NEW PRESIDENT OF MAKERS OF RADIOS

C. C. Colby, president of the Samson Electric company of Canton, Mass., was elected president of the Radio Manufacturers' association at the third annual convention of that organization which is being held at the Stevens hotel in connection with the first Radio Trade show.

Mr. Colby succeeds A. T. Haugh of Rochester, N. Y., D. MacGregor of the All-American Radio corporation, Chicago, was elected treasurer and T. K. Webster Jr., Chicago, N. Y. W. Callaway, Philadelphia, Pa., and J. B. Hawley, St. Charles, Ill., were chosen first, second, and third regional vice presidents, respectively.

Plans for the annual radio industry banquet during the New York show, held each fall, were discussed yesterday at a meeting presided over by Paul B. Klugh and which was attended by representatives of every branch of the industry. Last year about 35 stations broadcast the program, but this year more than 50, in every section of the country, will put the five hour program on the air.

315 More Arrested in Auto License Drive
P. M. Harmon, chief inspector of the state automobile license department, and 25 inspectors who are in Chicago conducting a drive this week against improperly or unlicensed automobiles, yesterday arrested 315 motorists. Tuesday, 560 were arrested. The cases are being tried in the Traffic court.

LONDON, June 15.—"It is a miserable story," I am almost ashamed of my own people," said Feodor Chaliapin today, discussing a report from Moscow that he had been deprived of his Russian nationality for helping Russian emigrants. "They have a letter from a Frankfurt priest thanking me for holding a feast and mass for beggars and workless. They claim this proves I assisted anti-soviet. I am not a politician—I am not clever enough. I am merely an artist and completely Russian. I fed the people—starving Englishmen, famished Viennese, and fasting Russians—because they needed food."

The great singer expressed fear that he will be compelled to change his citizenship and become English or American, to secure a passport for travel. He admitted the soviet demanded 15,000,000 rubles ($7,500,000), which Chaliapin was unable to give.

Europe, and warn him in a friendly manner that he is reacting against Russia.

Poland Puts on Soft Pedal.
It is understood that Poland, which has been striving to negotiate a pact of nonaggression with Russia, has been vigorously emphasizing the wisdom of angering Russia by even any appearance of hostility to her. Poland contends that such an attitude would only intensify the Russian national spirit in the same way as did the military interventions at the close of the great war.

The truth is the foreign ministers of the European powers are finding the communist problem the hardest and most elusive of all to solve. Each of them has revealed a state of communitarian activity in his own country, and together they have gone over ways and means of fighting communism by methods similar to those used in their home lands.

LONDON, June 15.—George Buchanan, militant laborite, was thrown out of the house of commons this afternoon for calling G. Lockhart-Lampson, undersecretary of state for foreign affairs, a liar when he stated Great Britain employed no spies in Russia.

Rowdy, clamorous scenes enlivened the session. The incident arose out of questions brought up by the laborites over the executions of twenty Russians in Moscow. Robert Hudson wanted to know if any of these Russians were on the pay roll of the British mission. The answer was an emphatic negative. Mr. Lockhart-Lampson referring the question to the recalled charge of "chaffers' refutation" of these soviet charges. Then some one shouted: "Do you say Great Britain does not employ spies in Russia at all?"

"Certainly not," we don't employ spies at all," said Mr. Lockhart-Lampson. It was then that Mr. Buchanan cried back: "What a lie."

PASTOR ACCUSED BY GIRL DEPOSED FROM HIS PULPIT
Rockford, Ill., June 15.—(Special.)—The Rev. J. A. L. Warren, former pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Durand, was deposed as a pastor today by a committee of fellow clergymen. The decision followed a review of the case in which the pastor was accused of misconduct with Hazel Lamb, who was employed in his home.

At the first hearing, two weeks ago, the agreement was reached that Mr. Warren should surrender his charge, take a vacation, withdraw a $50,000 salary suit he had brought, and submit his case to the conference. The pastor did not withdraw the suit, and the case now goes to Rock River conference next fall.

MOTHER SEES MAN KILL GIRL AND HIMSELF

Love Quarrel Leads to a Double Tragedy.

The murder of a young woman yesterday was witnessed by her mother and grandmother, who were left alone in the world by the double tragedy in which the slayer of the girl ended his own life.

The two witnesses are Mrs. Frances Snell, 45 years old, and her mother, Mrs. Fannie Starr, 60 years old, both of 2023 West Ohio street. The victim was the former's daughter, Evelyn Riley, 20 years old, common law wife of Oscar Bettis, 40 years old, who killed the girl and committed suicide in their basement apartment at 2142 West Washington boulevard.

Mother Tells of Tragedy.

"Evelyn came into the room and sat down on the sofa," said Mrs. Snell in her story of the murder. "You could see she and Oscar had been quarreling. Then all of a sudden Oscar reached under the pillows on the sofa and pulled out a revolver. He cried, 'O, honey, don't.'"

Mrs. Snell warned her mother to run into the next room and she grabbed at Bettis' arm, she said. He fired one shot at the girl and then shoved her mother against the marble fireplace. The second shot struck the girl's body and she fell dying.

Mrs. Snell ran from the room and collapsed. The police arrived and found Bettis on the floor with a bullet hole through his temple.

Unfaithful, Letter Says.

A letter found in his pocket and addressed to his brother, Henry Bettis, 1224 Oak Park avenue, Oak Park, accuses the girl of unfaithfulness.

At the Warren avenue police station the mother and her daughter told Sgt. Lester Breitenmeyer that the couple had lived together more than three months. Evelyn, an expectant mother, has been separated from her husband. A second letter in Bettis' pocket disclosed the fact that he was separated from his wife, and that he had a daughter.

OUTLAW SAFE IN HILLS RETREAT AFTER NEW FORAY

Tulsa, Okla., June 15.—(AP)—Matthew Kimes, phantom outlaw of the southwest, tonight apparently was back in his Osage hills refuge, after a foray into the outside world that netted him an automobile and caused him to entertain one unwitting and one unwilling guest.

Officers picked up Kimes' trail after he had stolen a motor car at Olton last night, but after several hours' chase lost him in the fastness of the hill country. The youthful bandit, in stealing the car, inadvertently took a 2 year old boy, asleep in the tonneau. The child was found, still asleep and unharmed, in a vacant lot a few blocks from where the car was stolen.

Stopped in Pawnee county by George McAninch, town marshal, Kimes pocketed a sawed off shotgun into the officer's stomach and took him along. McAninch's companion, thinking the officer had effected a capture, drove back to town.

After taking McAninch several miles, the bandit lashed him to a tree. Freeing himself early this morning, McAninch joined the pursuing posse.

Street Cleaners Threaten to Strike on July 1

Failure of the city council finance committee to grant a wage increase of 40 cents per day to the 1,500 street cleaners will result in a strike on July 1, it was announced yesterday by Michael Corrigan, president of the street cleaners' union. Affiliated with the street cleaners are 500 section foremen and 400 repairmen who are expected to stage a sympathetic walk-out in case of a strike. Street cleaners now receive $5.25 per day, section foremen $6.40 and repairmen $5.30.

J. PLATT UNDERWOOD, LUMBERMAN, LEAVES ESTATE OF $1,000,000

J. Platt Underwood, lumberman, who died on Jan. 7, left an estate valued at $1,000,000, it was disclosed in an inventory filed yesterday in Probate court. His estate consists of $194,000 in cash, $855,000 in stocks and bonds, mostly of lumber companies, and the remainder in real estate, principally tree covered acreage in Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, and Oregon.

Heirs to this fortune are his son and two daughters, Morgan Platt Underwood, 4445 Lake Park avenue; Mrs. Eleanor Underwood Andrews of Alameda, Cal., and Mrs. Dorothea Underwood Sabin of Pasadena, Cal. In addition, Mrs. Minnie B. Potter, an elderly housekeeper, is given a home for the rest of her life in the Underwood residence, $10,000 outright, and income from a $75,000 trust. Securities in the estate, at par, are:

50 American Furniture Mart building	5,000
31 Illinois Central railroad (preferred)	8,100
110 Illinois Central railroad (common)	11,900
15 Illinois Central stock interest certificate	15,000
100 Chicago and North Western railroad	10,000
1,371 Pacific Co. common	137,100
1,350 Marine-Underwood Co.	135,000
150 Olin Corp.	15,000
339 Tillamook Yellow Fir Co.	33,900
2,500 Peerless Soap Corp. (preferred)	250,000
1,125 Peerless Soap Corp. (common)	no par
500 Cane Creek Timber Co.	5,000
180 Columbia Rope Co.	18,000
200 Parsons-Taft Co.	20,000

BONDS.

30 Town of Amite City, La., waterworks	15,000
20 Cane Creek Timber Co. first mortgage	2,000
5 Clay County, Tex., road district	5,000
5 Limestone County, Tex., road district	5,000
9 Independent School District, Mowbride, S. D.	9,000
5 City of Norman, Okla.	5,000
7 City of Tuscon, Ariz.	7,000
5 Fourth Liberty Loan	5,000
10 Second Liberty Loan	10,000

Mr. Underwood was known as one of the largest owners of timberland in the country.

GIVES "Y" SITE FOR BUILDING ON PERSHING ROAD

BY AL CHASE.

Chicago's Central Manufacturing district is to have a Young Men's Christian association building as the result of a gift by Albert E. Cross of the northeast corner of Pershing road and South Winchester avenue to the board of trustees of the "Y." Like several recent realty transfers, this one has no much mystery surrounding it that there's little to state.

"Y" officials said they weren't ready to give out any facts about it. Other parties interested in the deal said it was a gift by Mr. Cross. The latter gentleman, who is president of the White City Cold Storage company and also head of Cross, Roy & Saunders, Inc., could not be reached. His office said he was out of the city.

Well, Build for Some Time.

From another source it was learned that the "Y" had no intention of erecting a building on the corner just given it for some time. The county records disclose that the property is 194,125 sq. ft. a block east of McKinley park and across Pershing road from the imposing row of Central Manufacturing district buildings. Arthur W. Moore, general manager of the Farnham company, has sold the three apartment building, No. 121, at 1115 North Shore avenue to Margaret Romano for a reported $80,000, subject to $50,000. Richard A. Connell was broker.

Well, Well, Another Golf Club!

Harry G. Seaman has sold eighty acres on Devon avenue, half a mile west of Arlington Heights road, near Itasca, to Peter Johnson who contemplates organizing a golf club. It is stated by Richard A. Connell, broker.

Harry I. Starr has bought the northeast corner of 87th and Sangamon from Clement E. Sanchez and is having plans drawn for a three story building to contain twenty-four flats and seven stores. David Snyder was attorney for both parties.

HEART ATTACK PROVES FATAL.

Harry Tracy, 56 years old, 652 South State street, died yesterday from the effects of a heart attack.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO FLOOD FUND STILL COME IN

The Chicago Association of Commerce-Red Cross committees and the mayor's committee whose funds for the Mississippi valley flood sufferers have passed the million dollar mark, report contributions still coming in. The trustees acknowledge the following contributions:

100-The Neighborhood Club.
50-The Young Men's Christian Association.
50-Sunday school class at Second Red Cross Christian Reformed church.
50-Private to room 300, Southern hotel.
Total, $244.00.
Previously acknowledged, $21,025.59.
Grand total, $21,269.59.

The trustees urge that all contributions be sent direct to the American Red Cross headquarters at 515 South Michigan avenue.

FURTHER SLUMP IN TRACTION FEATURES CHICAGO STOCK MART

Traction issues continued their downward march in Chicago stock trading yesterday while the remainder of the list showed considerable recovery.

Chicago City and Connecting Railway preferred dropped 2 1/2 to 11 while the common was off 3/4 to 1 1/4. Chicago Railway No. 2 eased 1/4 to 3 1/4. In the bonds, Chicago City and Connecting Railway 5c sank 5 points to 43 while the company's "A" and "B" 5c declined 3 and 4 points, respectively.

Chicago City and Connecting Railway 5c and Chicago City Railway first 5c and certificates closed 1 1/2 and a point lower to 85. Metropolitan Elevated extension 4c sold off 2 points to 77.

Colt was the principal active factor in the remainder of the list and sold ex-dividend 75 cents at a high of 82 1/2, equivalent to the high of the year which was 82 1/2 with the dividend on. Marvel Carburizer gained 1/2 and Borg & Black declined 3/4. Illinois Brick, selling ex-dividend 25 cents and a point lower to 43 1/2.

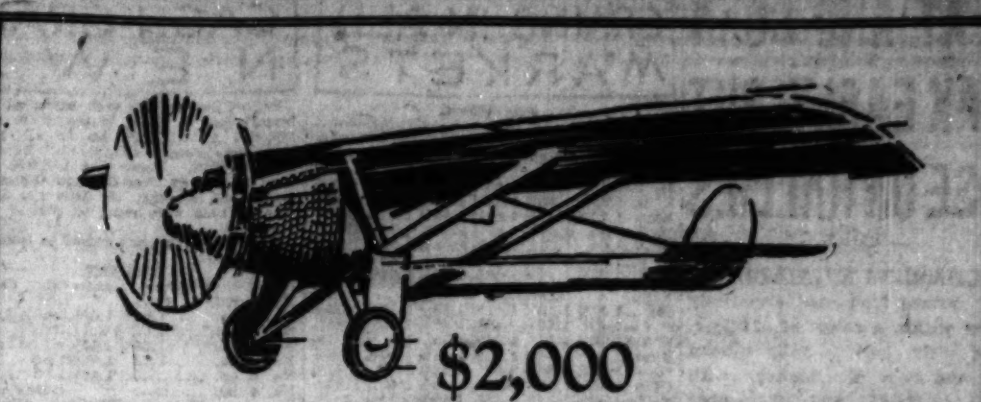

On small sales, Great Lakes Dredge recovered 4 points to 157 and Keystone Steel and Wire gained 5 points to 79 since the last previous sale. Diamond Match was up 2 points and Yellow Truck advanced 1 1/2. Evans "A" was a point higher.

His self-confidence backed by his savings evidently greatly impressed the President and the money necessary for the project, (reported to be $14,000), was readily raised.

Opportunity usually bears a price tag. In this instance it was $2,000. In your case it may be $5,000 or $10,000, or even $25,000. Will you be prepared?

$2,000
Opened the Door to Opportunity

As reported in the newspapers, Captain Charles A. Lindbergh said to the President of the Saint Louis Chamber of Commerce: "I've saved $2,000 flying mail and I want to fly to Paris."

His self-confidence backed by his savings evidently greatly impressed the President and the money necessary for the project, (reported to be $14,000), was readily raised.

Opportunity usually bears a price tag. In this instance it was $2,000. In your case it may be $5,000 or $10,000, or even $25,000. Will you be prepared?

The surest, safest way to build a sound reserve is to buy good, marketable bonds from a reputable investment house, and compound the interest at investment rates by regularly reinvesting it.

Charles Lindbergh's "luck" was founded on courage and caution. He tested every part of his plane and equipment before starting. He made sure that he was right, then pushed through to victory.

In a less spectacular way, you can reach the financial goals you set for yourself by investing regularly in bonds of the high character sold by this Company.

$4,000,000
STATE OF RIO GRANDE DO SUL
(United States of Brazil)
CONSOLIDATED MUNICIPAL LOAN
FORTY-YEAR SEVEN PER CENT. SINKING FUND GOLD BONDS
Guaranteed unconditionally by endorsement on each bond as to principal, sinking fund and interest by the State of Rio Grande do Sul

External Loan of 1927. Authorized Issue $4,000,000. To be dated June 1, 1927. To mature June 1, 1967. Interest payable June 1 and December 1. Coupon bonds in denominations of $1000 and $500, negotiable as to principal only. Principal and interest payable at The Equitable Trust Company of New York, Fiscal Agent for the Loan, in gold coin of the United States of America or equal to the present standard of weight and fineness, without deduction for any present or future Brazilian taxes. Redeemable as a whole but not in part, except for Sinking Fund, on June 1, 1930, or on any interest date thereafter at 100 and accrued interest on 60 days' notice.

The following information has been obtained partly by cable from the President of the State of Rio Grande do Sul, and partly from official or reliable sources:

Security
These bonds are the direct obligations of eight municipalities in the State of Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil, each being liable in proportion to its share in the proceeds of the loan. These municipalities have a combined population of 407,100, approximately one-sixth of the total population of the State.

The municipalities participating in the loan are:
Pelotas, Rio Grande, Cachoeira, Bage, Sao Leopoldo, Santa Anna do Livramento, Uruguayana and Caxias.

The bonds are specifically secured by a first lien on certain taxes levied by the respective municipalities. These pledged revenues, based upon 1926 collections, amounted, in the case of each municipality, to more than one and one-half times its proportionate share of the requirements for payment of interest and sinking fund. Provision is made for pledging additional revenues, selected by the underwriters, in case the revenues already pledged by any municipality should prove insufficient for any half year.

Credit
There is no record of default in any funded obligation, either internal or external, of the State of Rio Grande do Sul, or of any municipalities within the state. Ordinary revenues of the state have shown a surplus over ordinary expenditures in every year for the past 20 years. The total funded debt of the State is $29,008,356, or less than $12.50 per capita. Contingent obligations of the state, consisting of guaranteed city loans, including this issue, amount to $18,494,152.

The combined internal and external funded debt of the contracting municipalities, including this loan, is $9,169,560.

The proceeds of this issue will be expended principally for the acquisition or construction of water-works and other revenue producing properties. Of

Guaranty
The State of Rio Grande do Sul, by endorsement on each bond, irrevocably pledges the full faith and credit of the state for the punctual payment of principal, interest and sinking fund charges of this loan, as they become due, and the prompt performance by the municipalities of their obligations under the loan contract.

Sinking Fund
A sinking fund beginning December 1, 1927, operating semi-annually, is calculated to retire the entire issue by maturity through purchase at not exceeding 100 and interest, or redemption by lot at that price.

General
The State of Rio Grande do Sul (population, 2,358,000) is the southernmost state of Brazil, about equal in size to the states of New York and Pennsylvania. It is one of the richest agricultural and stock breeding regions in the world. It has a healthy and temperate climate, with fertile soil and vast grazing tracts. Its population, (predominantly of European descent) consists largely of German, Dutch and Italian colonists, drawn from the best agricultural sections of Europe. They are thrifty and prosperous, and are rapidly developing the abundant natural resources at their disposal.

The state ranks as one of the first three states of Brazil in manufacturing and in value of imports and exports. Its principal industrial products are meat, hides, leather, shoes, cotton goods, paper, tobacco, soap, lumber, silk and tea. Exports have increased from $7,599,000 in 1906 to $57,879,000 in 1925. The banks are the largest in total assets of those of any state in Brazil, even exceeding those of the State of Sao Paulo.

Conversions from foreign money and values to United States currency have been made at the following rates:

WHEAT AND CORN BREAK EARLY, BUT CLOSE ON RALLIES

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat prices fluctuated erratically yesterday within a range of 3/8c, breaking early, only to rally toward the close and close 1/4c higher, with July $1.44 1/2 and September $1.43 1/2. Corn showed a firm undertone, and while there was a dip of around 1c early due to reports of a lack of rain over the belt, the low temperatures and the forecast indicating showers led to increased buying by local bulls. The close was at the top, with net gains of 1 1/2c, with July 99 1/2c and September 1.04 1/2c.

Data were 1/2c higher with July, 4 1/2c to 4 3/4c, and September, 4 1/2c, and September, 1.04 1/2c to 1.04 1/2c.

Speculative interest in the grain markets is greatly restricted by the Keesinger board of trade control bill now before the Illinois house of representatives, and the disposition is to go slow until it is out of the way.

Corn Strength Helps Wheat. Trade in wheat was quiet and the market was influenced with a good deal of buying in evidence on the break, but the market did not make much headway on the upside. Weather in the northwest and southwest was more favorable, and harvesting is expected to be resumed today in Oklahoma.

Crack corn from the American and Canadian northwest were generally favorable, with Winnipeg closing unchanged to 1/2c higher.

Messages from the seaboard indicated improved export demand and sales in all positions were estimated at 250,000 to 300,000 bu. including 150,000 bu. hard winter for deferred shipment from the Gulf. Basis there, however, was reported as easier.

Buying of July and selling of September by strong commission houses was a feature, and the July showed independent strength at one time. Local stocks are small, and no material movement to this market is expected for some time to come. Liverpool was 1/16d lower, making a poor response to American markets of the previous day, and had a depressing effect early.

Local Bulls Buy Corn. There was persistent buying of corn futures credited to leading local bulls, and some stop loss orders were uncovered on the way up. Weather conditions were regarded as unfavorable for the new crop, and the outlook in Missouri is officially reported as being the worst at this season in 40 years, only 70 per cent of the acreage being planted to June 1. Cash demand remains slow.

Commission houses were fair buyers of oats while pressure was largest locally, making a poor response to American markets of the previous day, and had a depressing effect early.

Trade in rye was light and market easily influenced, but prices were not decidedly rapid. Buying of rye against

Consumers Sanitary Coffee and Butter Stores

(AN ILLINOIS CORPORATION)

Serial Convertible 6% Gold Notes "Series A"

To be dated May 15, 1927

To Mature in Annual Series, 1929 to 1939

Coupon notes of $1000 and $500 denominations, with privilege of registration as to principal. Redeemable as a whole or in part on any semi-annual interest date and including May 15, 1934, at 103 and accrued interest, and thereafter on any semi-annual interest date at 102 and accrued interest. Interest payable without deduction for Federal Income Tax not in excess of 2%.

CHICAGO TRUST COMPANY, AND ROY K. THOMAS, CHICAGO, TRUSTEES

These Notes may be converted par for par on any interest date prior to maturity or, in the case of any note called for redemption at any time up to and including the thirtieth (30th) day prior to redemption date specified in the notice of such redemption, into a like amount of fully paid, non-assessable 7% Preferred Stock of the Company.

The following summary is based upon a letter of Mr. John R. Roney, President of Consumers Sanitary Coffee and Butter Stores:

HISTORY AND BUSINESS: The business of the Company, which consists of the operation of a chain of grocery stores in and near Chicago, dates from 1907. At the time of its incorporation, in 1917, the Company operated nine stores. In the past ten years this number has increased to two hundred and thirty-nine. Foreseeing a rapid expansion of its business, the Company in 1920 erected a new warehouse; but the growth of the business has been greater than was anticipated and the present warehouse property is no longer adequate to accommodate the needs of the steadily increasing number of stores. The buildings and switch-track provided for by this financing will afford much needed facilities for further development, not only with respect to warehouse and refrigerating space, but for the production of bakery goods and the preparation of coffee, two very profitable branches of the business.

ASSETS: These Notes are secured by a deposit with the Trustees of mortgage notes secured by the equities in all of the lands, buildings and major fixed equipment owned by the Company, including the new warehouse and the land on which it is to be erected. The Company's assets, as at April 30, 1927, and after applying the proceeds of the present financing, were as follows:

Land, buildings and fixed equipment (as appraised by Mr. Newton C. Farr of Newton C. Farr & Company, Chicago) plus estimated cost of new warehouse and equipment (net).....	$1,558,762.76
Net quick assets.....	1,139,682.05
Other assets.....	1,933.19
Total net tangible assets.....	$2,700,378.00

EARNINGS: Since its incorporation in 1917 the Company has never failed to show a profit and in each succeeding year the profit has been larger than that of the preceding year. During the same period gross sales have increased from $606,404 in 1917, to $13,066,389 in 1926. Average net earnings after all charges, including depreciation, but before Federal Income Tax, for the five years ended December 31, 1926, as certified to by Thulin and Company, Public Accountants, were $224,074 or over 3.7 times maximum annual interest charges on this issue of Notes. Net earnings for the year 1926, similarly stated, were $359,868, or approximately 6 times such interest charges; and for the four months ended April 30, 1927, were $160,150.40 or at the rate of 8 times such charges.

PURPOSE OF FINANCING: These Notes are being issued to provide funds for the acquisition of land, for the completion and equipment of a new warehouse and bakery, for the construction of switch-tracks and for other corporate purposes.

MANAGEMENT: Mr. John R. Roney, the founder of the business and President of the Company, will continue as in the past to give his direct, personal supervision and no change in officials or personnel is contemplated.

All legal matters in connection with this issue of Notes are subject to the approval of Messrs. Hyde, Hennings, Thulin, Westbrook and Watson, of Chicago.

We offer these Notes when, as and if issued and accepted by us, subject to opinion of Counsel.

Price 100 and interest to yield 6%, except 1929 maturity, which is offered on a 5.75% basis.

TWO GREAT FICTION ISSUES

MOTIVE POWER

By Henry C. Rowland

Andrew Orrin, less than an hour after he had signed his new will, died suddenly and mysteriously. Who was responsible? Was it Vogel of the missing index finger, his valet? Or Simpson, his soft-footed male nurse? Or pretty Mary Brown, his secretary to whom he had just left a fortune? Or his spendthrift son whom he had disinherited? Or his beautiful, headstrong daughter who was in love with a man of whom he disapproved? Who was the masked stranger who locked Mary Brown in her room just before the tragedy? And who stole the will immediately afterward? Who threw the long-suffering young barrister, Marcus True, into the lake? These are some of the questions you will ask yourself as you follow this exciting story through its four installments, and no matter what your answers may be, they will be wrong.

LORD CHESTERFIELD By J.P. Marquand

A story of undergraduate life at Harvard as amusing as anything you have read in many weeks. The principals are Beverley Endicott Witherspoon, noted for his good manners and his bad debts; his Aunt Amelia, who is determined to do good in the world no matter at what cost to others; Mrs. Rooney, whose vocation in life is the making of undergraduate beds; and finally a certain irrepressible red-headed bill collector.

MY DEAR

By May Edginton

Lovely Jenny Croft, on her way up from the sweatshop and her sordid beginnings in the slums of London, meets Bad John Danby, on his way down from Oxford and all the advantages with which a proud and wealthy family had started him in life. From the East End, its bitter fight for existence, its street brawls and cheap lodging houses, the scene shifts to London's West End, to the studio of the great artist, Victor le Maur, the apartment of Lady Rosamund Lacey and the stately residence of old Sir Lucas Riverside. Throughout its five parts, this is a story of struggle against the temptations of poverty and the sometimes even greater temptations of wealth—in which it is shown that the richest people sometimes are those who seem to possess nothing, and that to have a full purse and an empty heart is to be very poor indeed.

INTERLUDE By Eleanor Mercein

Another delightful episode in the lives of Emily and Esteban. Many readers of The Saturday Evening Post have written in asking for the story of their second courtship and their marriage. Here it is at last. There will be one more story about these characters, and then will begin a new Basque series, "The Book of Bette."
